Higher National Unit Specification

General information for centres

Unit title: Counselling: Loss, Grief and Bereavement in a Counselling Context

Unit code: F1EM 34

Unit purpose: This Unit is designed to develop understanding of theoretical models and highlight necessary skills in the practice of loss and grief counselling.

On completion of the Unit the candidate should be able to:

1. Describe the process of loss with reference to theoretical models.
2. Understand the importance of ritual and experiential activity.
3. Counsel clients experiencing different types of loss.
4. Demonstrate personal learning.

Credit points and level: 1 HN Credit at SCQF level 7: (8 SCQF credit points at SCQF level 7*)

*SCQF credit points are used to allocate credit to qualifications in the Scottish Credit and Qualifications Framework (SCQF). Each qualification in the Framework is allocated a number of SCQF credit points at an SCQF level. There are 12 SCQF levels, ranging from Access 1 to Doctorates.

Recommended prior knowledge and skills: Access to the Unit is at the discretion of the centre, however candidates should have good communication skills.

Core Skills: There are opportunities to develop the Core Skills of Communication, Problem Solving and Working with Others at Higher in this Unit, although there is no automatic certification of Core Skills or Core Skills components.

Context for delivery: If this Unit is delivered as part of a Group Award, it is recommended that it should be taught and assessed within the subject area of the Group Award to which it contributes.

Assessment: Specific advice on assessment for this Unit is given for each Outcome. Candidates must achieve all of the minimum evidence specified for each Outcome in order to pass the Unit. Outcomes 1 and 2 are assessed by extended response assignment. Outcome 3 is assessed by practical demonstration and Outcome 4 by reflective accounts.

Higher National Unit specification: support notes

Unit title: Counselling: Loss, Grief and Bereavement in a Counselling Context

This part of the Unit specification is offered as guidance. The support notes are not mandatory.

While the exact time allocated to this Unit is at the discretion of the centre, the notional design length is 40 hours.

Guidance on the content and context for this Unit

This specialist Unit is intended for those preparing to work or already working in counselling and is designed to allow candidates to consolidate and apply knowledge and understanding that underpins counselling clients experiencing loss, grief or bereavement. In order to achieve the Outcomes stated, this Unit requires that the student take notes in lectures and discussions, compile assessments, read relevant books and articles as advised, watch relevant videos and take part in and contribute to group discussions and exercises.

Guidance on the delivery and assessment of this Unit

Outcome 1

Outcome 1 identifies the process of loss with reference to theoretical models.

(a) Cultural practices can include three from:
   Hinduism, Islam, Judaism, Christianity, Buddhism, Secular Humanism, Sikhism.
(b) Types of loss could include:
   death of partner, friend, child, cotdeath, still birth, miscarriage, termination of pregnancy, having child with disability, rape, suicide, terminal illness, long-term illness, loss of limb, hearing, eyesight, bodily function, hair, appearance, marriage, divorce, separation, unemployment, redundancy, retirement, change of house, school, job, theft, children growing up, leaving home, becoming parents, becoming grandparents, unable to have child, loss of innocence, security, faith, trust, dignity, virginity, loss of income, death of a pet, unexpected death, anticipated death.
(c) Theoretical models might include:
   E. Kubler-Ross; C.M. Parkes; W. Worden; J. Bowlby.
(d) Complicated grief reactions to include:
   Chronic grief reaction; delayed grief reaction; exaggerated grief reaction; masked grief responses; absent grief; unbalanced grief.

Outcome 2

Outcome 2 introduces appropriate ways of enabling clients to work through the experience of loss.

(a) Importance of rituals addresses individual’s needs at three levels:
   Psychological — by giving framework for the expression of grief.
   Theological or psychological — individual seeks to make meaning out of what is experienced.
   Sociological — through sharing experience with others and being re-accepted into society.

Unit title: Counselling: Loss, Grief and Bereavement in a Counselling Context

(b) Appropriate experiential activities might include:
Completing unfinished business, planting a tree etc., writing letters to lost one, speaking to ‘empty chair’ or any other activities appropriate within societies. These are to be viewed in cultural context.

Outcome 3

Outcome 3 is designed to allow candidates to put theory into practice. Safety of students is paramount so it is important to stress that simulation/role-play is acceptable here. The following should be covered:

(a) Inner feeling of loss, outer expression of grief.
(b) Core conditions, challenging, immediacy, advanced empathy, reflecting, paraphrasing, summarising, open questioning, responding to silence, focusing, moving session forward, maintaining eye contact, appropriate body language, responding to non-verbal clues, comfort with emotional instability.
(c) Possible reactions to loss: shock, protest, disorganisation, numbness, denial, disbelief, sadness, anger, bitterness, guilt, fear, relief, yearning, searching, preoccupation, physical symptoms, confusion, loss of interest, loss of meaning, loss of faith, restlessness, loss of confidence, low self-esteem, anguish, depression, anxiety, loneliness, difficulties in concentration, inappropriate use of alcohol, drugs, disturbed sleep pattern, altered appetite.

Outcome 4

Outcome 4 gives candidates the opportunity to demonstrate their personal learning and apply the counselling concepts to their relationships. This may be integrated into a course journal if one is being kept. The following should be considered:

Self awareness with regard to experiencing loss, increased awareness of client’s, friend’s, family and course member’s reactions to loss, comfort/discomfort working with strong emotions.

Opportunities for developing Core Skills

There are opportunities to develop the Core Skills of Communication, Problem Solving and Working with Others at Higher in this Unit, although there is no automatic certification of Core Skills or Core Skills components.

Open learning

Due to the participatory and experiential nature and practical element in this Unit, it would not be appropriate for open learning.

Disabled candidates and/or those with additional support needs

The additional support needs of individual candidates should be taken into account when planning learning experiences, selecting assessment instruments, or considering whether any reasonable adjustments may be required. Further advice can be found on our website www.sqa.org.uk/assessmentarrangements.
