Rationale

All new and revised National Courses reflect the Curriculum for Excellence values, purposes and principles. They offer flexibility, provide more time for learning, more focus on skills and applying learning, and scope for personalisation and choice.

In this Course, and its component Units, there will be an emphasis on skills development and the application of those skills. Assessment approaches will be proportionate and fit for purpose and they will promote best practice, enabling learners to achieve the highest standards they can.

This Course provides learners with opportunities to continue to acquire and develop the attributes and capabilities of the four capacities as well as skills for learning, skills for life and skills for work.

All Courses provide opportunities for learners to develop breadth, challenge and application, but the focus and balance of the assessment will be appropriate for the subject area.

Relationship between the Course and Curriculum for Excellence values, purposes and principles

The Course supports lifelong learning for learners of all ages. Learning about the cultures of the world or about the social and political dimensions of society will be enhanced by an awareness of the contributions made by Roman civilisations.

The Course provides learners with the opportunity to develop linguistic awareness and analytical skills through the study of Latin texts. Learners develop an appreciation of the interconnected nature of languages, and develop an understanding of the legacy of Roman civilisation and its influence on their own culture and that of others.

Learners encounter a range of different types of texts in different media. Building on the four capacities, the Course enables learners to communicate, be critical thinkers, develop cultural awareness and be creative.

Purpose and aims of the Course

The main purpose of the Course is to provide learners with the opportunity to develop translation skills and the ability to understand, analyse and evaluate through the study of Latin language and literature.

The Course offers learners opportunities to develop and extend a wide range of skills. In particular, the Course aims to enable learners to develop:

♦ the language skills of translation
♦ the ability to understand, analyse and evaluate
♦ the ability to apply knowledge of language
♦ knowledge and understanding of literary techniques and Roman culture

The Course contributes towards the development of literacy skills by providing learners with opportunities to listen, talk, read, and write in English, and to read in Latin.

Information about typical learners who might do the Course

The Course provides flexibility, personalisation and choice to enable learners to achieve in different ways and at different paces.

Prior learning in the subject is not essential, although the Course provides opportunities for learners to build on prior learning experienced in a broad general education or in Latin qualifications at a lower SCQF level.

The Course provides learners with the opportunity to develop an understanding of how language works, and use language well to communicate ideas and information, to develop language competence to support understanding and communication, to use creative and critical thinking to synthesise ideas and arguments and to use different media effectively for learning and communication.

The Course also provides learners with the opportunity to: develop independent learning, enhance their enjoyment and their understanding of their own and other cultures, and explore the interconnected nature of languages.

The Course is designed to be accessible.

The Course provides opportunities for vertical and lateral progression to National Courses and to other SQA qualifications in Latin and related fields.

Course structure and conditions of award

Course structure

This Course is made up of two mandatory Units. The two Units include the language skills of translating, understanding, analysing and evaluating. The Course provides the opportunity to integrate these language skills across the Units. Each Unit also offers opportunities for learners to focus on particular skills.

Units are statements of standards for assessment and not programmes of learning and teaching. They can be delivered in a variety of ways.

Latin: Translating (Higher)
The purpose of this Unit is to provide learners with the opportunity to study detailed and complex Latin texts and to develop the language skills needed for translation. Learners also develop knowledge and understanding of vocabulary, accidence and syntax.

Latin: Literary Appreciation (Higher)
The purpose of this Unit is to provide learners with the opportunity to develop the language skills needed to understand, analyse and evaluate detailed and complex texts in Latin and translated into English. Learners also develop knowledge and understanding of literary techniques and aspects of Roman culture.

Conditions of award

To gain the award of the Course, the learner must pass all of the Units as well as the Course assessment. The required Units are shown in the Course outline section. Course assessment will provide the basis for grading attainment in the Course award.

Skills, knowledge and understanding

Further information on the assessment of skills, knowledge and understanding for the Course is given in the Course Assessment Specification. A broad overview of the mandatory subject skills, knowledge and understanding that will be assessed in the Course is given in this section. This covers:

The Course enables learners to communicate, be critical thinkers, develop cultural awareness, and be creative.

♦ translating skills, including developing knowledge and understanding of vocabulary, accidence, syntax, literary styles and nuances
♦ understanding, analysing and evaluating detailed and complex texts in Latin and translated into English
♦ knowledge and understanding of literary techniques and aspects of Roman culture

Skills, knowledge and understanding to be included in the Course will be appropriate to the SCQF level of the Course. The SCQF level descriptors give further information on characteristics and expected performance at each SCQF level (www.sqa.org.uk/scqf).

Assessment

Information about assessment for the Course is included in the Course Assessment Specification, which provides full details including advice on how a learner's overall attainment for the Course will be determined.

Unit assessment

All Units are internally assessed against the requirements shown in the Unit Specification.

They can be assessed on a Unit-by-Unit basis or by combined assessment.

They will be assessed on a pass/fail basis within centres. SQA will provide rigorous external quality assurance, including external verification, to ensure assessment judgments are consistent and meet national standards.

The assessment of the Units in this Course will be as follows:

Latin: Translating (Higher)
Learners will be required to provide evidence of their language skills of translation from Latin into English. Learners will be required to convey meaning with accuracy and fluency in the translation of detailed and complex texts by applying knowledge and understanding of vocabulary, accidence and syntax.

Latin: Literary Appreciation (Higher)
Learners will be required to provide evidence of the language skills needed to understand, analyse and evaluate detailed and complex texts in Latin and translated into English. Learners will be required to demonstrate knowledge and understanding of literary techniques and aspects of Roman culture.

Course assessment

Courses from National 4 to Advanced Higher include assessment of added value.[1] At National 5, Higher and Advanced Higher, the added value will be assessed in the Course assessment. The added value for the Course must address the key purposes and aims of the Course as defined in the Course Rationale. It will do this by addressing one or more of breadth, challenge or application.

In the higher Latin Course, added value will focus on:

- challenge
- application

Learners will provide evidence of their translation skills and their ability to understand, analyse and evaluate detailed and complex Latin texts. The Course assessment will take the form of two question papers[2] through which learners will demonstrate their ability to translate, understand, analyse and evaluate.
