GUIDANCE ON THE CONTENT AND CONTEXT FOR THIS UNIT

The summary table gives an indication of content and context. There will be a need to set time aside to create the context and content which will provide the resources for candidates' ideas.

GUIDANCE ON LEARNING AND TEACHING APPROACHES FOR THIS UNIT

In order to develop skills in oral presentation, candidates will need:

- an understanding of what makes for a good presentation
- an understanding of how to go about improving their skills
- an opportunity to reflect on their progress
- feedback from the teacher/lecturer and/or other candidates.

National Unit Specification: support notes (cont)

UNIT English: Individual Presentation (Intermediate 1)

Good practice suggests that the best approaches are for the teacher or lecturer to:

- share the criteria for a successful presentation with the candidate
- focus – during the teaching and formative phases – normally on no more than two aspects for improvement on any one occasion
- provide and study with the class models of good and poor presentations, sometimes, if possible, their own
- encourage candidates to choose personal experience of part-time work, hobbies, interests, particular literary or arts interests, sporting and other abilities
- note that close consideration should be given to the length and clarity of the communication
- note that the length of the oral communication, topicality, structure and/or relationships are important.

Models may be derived from such sources are:

- news bulletins/features, extracts from broadcasts and reports
- schools and Further Education broadcast programmes
- training videos
- documentary or factual magazine programmes from television and radio
- extracts from current affairs or discussion broadcasts
- ‘live’ presentations, guest speakers, dialogues or debates.

Where appropriate, candidates should be encouraged to use the following:

- prompt cards
- some illustrative material/overheads/handouts.

The presentation may be made in Scots.

GUIDANCE ON APPROACHES TO ASSESSMENT FOR THIS UNIT

As assessment is an integral part of the learning and teaching process, the candidate should be encouraged to undertake a number of activities for formative purposes.

It should also be made clear that success in this outcome does not depend wholly on the candidate’s knowledge: the Unit is concerned with oral skills.

SPECIAL NEEDS

This unit specification is intended to ensure that there are no artificial barriers to learning or assessment. Special needs of individual candidates should be taken into account when planning learning experiences, selecting assessment instruments or considering special alternative outcomes for units. For information on these, please refer to the SQA document Guidance on Special Assessment Arrangements (SQA, September 2003).
