SCQF: level 5 (6 SCQF credit points)

Unit code: H263 75

Unit outline

The general aim of this Unit is to develop detailed factual and abstract knowledge and understanding of the impact and significance of religion today through studying some key beliefs, practices and sources found within one of the world's six major religions (Buddhism, Christianity, Hinduism, Islam, Judaism or Sikhism) and the contribution these make to the lives of followers. Learners will develop skills to explain and comment on the meaning and context of sources, beliefs and practices related to the religion selected for study.

Learners who complete this Unit will be able to:

- 1 demonstrate knowledge and understanding of religion today
- 2 assess the impact and significance of religion today

This Unit is a mandatory Unit of the National 5 Religious, Moral and Philosophical Studies Course and is also available as a free-standing Unit. The Unit Specification should be read in conjunction with the Unit Support Notes which provides advice and guidance on delivery, assessment approaches and development of skills for learning, skills for life and skills for work. Exemplification of the standards in this Unit is given in the Unit Assessment Support.

The Course Assessment Specification for the National 5 Religious, Moral and Philosophical Studies Course gives further mandatory information on Course coverage for learners taking this Unit as part of the National 5 Religious, Moral and Philosophical Studies Course.

Evidence Requirements for the Unit

Assessors should use their professional judgement, subject knowledge and experience, and understanding of their learners, to determine the most appropriate ways to generate evidence and the conditions and contexts in which they are used.

Evidence is required to show that the learner has met the Outcomes and Assessment Standards.

Assessment evidence can be drawn from a variety of activities and presented in a variety of formats including, for example, presentations, posters, brief written responses to questions, or participation in group tasks. All of the evidence does not need to come from the one activity, but can be assembled from a variety of tasks and assessments carried out during the duration of the Course.

Evidence may be presented for individual Outcomes or gathered for the Unit, Units or Course as a whole by combining assessment holistically.

Beliefs, practices and sources studied must relate to one of the world's six major religions (Buddhism, Christianity, Hinduism, Islam, Judaism or Sikhism).

Sources may be extracts from sacred or official texts, accurate re-tellings of sacred texts, or non-textual sources which clearly describe aspects of the religion concerned.

Study of a single source may generate evidence for all the Assessment Standards, within a study of closely related aspects of a religion.

The Outcomes and Assessment Standards require learners to answer in the context of one religion, and one belief, practice and source related to that religion. However, it is the expectation that good quality teaching will normally cover a wider range than the minimum required to pass the Unit assessment.

Exemplification of assessment is provided in the Unit Assessment Support. Advice and guidance on possible approaches to assessment is provided in the Unit Support Notes.

Development of skills for learning, skills for life and skills for work

It is expected that learners will develop broad, generic skills through this Unit. The skills that learners will be expected to improve on and develop through the Unit are based on SQA's Skills Framework: Skills for Learning, Skills for Life and Skills for Work and drawn from the main skills areas listed below. These must be built into the Unit where there are appropriate opportunities.

Further information on building in skills for learning, skills for life and skills for work is given in the Unit Support Notes.
