General comments re entry numbers

Entry up on previous year, although not by a significant number.

General comments

Candidate ability in general was on a par with previous year. The same general mistakes were made i.e. not addressing the answer to the question, or missing elements of the question.

Grade boundaries at C, B and A for each subject area included in the report

Maximum mark – 50

C -	25 Marks	(50% of maximum mark)
B -	30 Marks	(60% of maximum mark)
A -	35 marks	(70% of maximum mark)

General commentary on grade boundaries

Notional percentage cut-offs for each grade

Question papers and their associated marking schemes are designed to be of the required standard and to meet the assessment specification for the subject/level concerned.

For National courses the examination paper(s) are set in order that a score of approximately 50% of the total marks for all components merits a grade C (based on the grade descriptions for that grade), and similarly a score of 70 % for a grade A. The lowest mark for a grade B is set by the computer software as half way between the C and A grade boundaries.

Comments on grade boundaries for each subject area

Grade boundaries were agreed as the normal range.

Comments on candidate performance

General comments

Candidate performance was as expected, little more than average. There were no outstanding entries and few very poor entries. Candidates generally make the same typical mistakes of failing to address the question in the answer, or not fully answering the question.

Areas of external assessment in which candidates performed well

No specific areas were well answered

Areas of external assessment in which candidates had difficulty

Candidates seem to have difficulty with areas of industry other than hotels. There seems to be more emphasis on this area by tutors delivering the courses. This may be due to the more glamorous image of hotels over the hospital/care home/ 'non commercial' ventures.

Areas of common misunderstanding

No real areas of concern over misunderstanding were apparent.

Recommendations

Feedback to centres

Centres should concentrate their efforts in preparing candidates to answer the questions set. Care should be taken to ensure the full range is covered in the course delivery and the candidates are aware of the exam format, normally addressing both the hotel / commercial sector and the hospital / hall of residence / public institution sector.

The ability to apply knowledge to new scenarios should be developed, as often candidates seem to read the questions as 'write everything you know about ...'. The questions normally require candidates to relate their knowledge to a specific situation.
