Equality and inclusion

The individual needs of learners should be taken into account when planning learning experiences, selecting assessment methods or considering alternative evidence. For further information, please refer to the Course Support Notes.

Rationale

All new and revised National Courses reflect the Curriculum for Excellence values, purposes and principles. They offer flexibility, provide more time for learning, more focus on skills and applying learning, and scope for personalisation and choice.

In this Course, and its component Units, there will be an emphasis on skills development and the application of those skills. Assessment approaches will be proportionate, fit for purpose and will promote best practice, enabling learners to achieve the highest standards they can.

This Course provides learners with opportunities to continue to acquire and develop the attributes and capabilities of the four capacities, as well as skills for learning, skills for life and skills for work.

All Courses provide opportunities for learners to develop breadth, challenge and application, but the focus and balance of the assessment will be appropriate for the subject area.

Relationship between the Course and Curriculum for Excellence values, purposes and principles

This Course allows learners to develop practical skills creating and presenting drama. Learners will also develop drama production skills.

In this Course, learners are encouraged to exercise imagination and creativity. They will develop important skills, attitudes and attributes of the four capacities, including creativity and adaptability, enthusiasm, a willingness to learn and confidence.

This Course encourages learners to be creative and to express themselves in different ways. Learning through drama helps learners to appreciate cultural values, identities and ideas.

This Course also provides scope for personalisation and choice.

Purpose and aims of the Course

National 5 Drama provides opportunities for learners to develop skills creating and presenting drama. This Course focuses on the development and use of a range of drama skills and production skills to present drama.

This Course is practical and experiential.

The aims of the Course are to enable learners to:

- ◆ generate and communicate thoughts and ideas when creating drama
- ◆ develop a knowledge and understanding of a range of social and cultural influences on drama
- ◆ develop a range of skills in presenting drama
- ◆ develop knowledge, understanding and the use of a range of production skills when presenting drama

- ◆ explore form, structure, genre and style

As learners develop practical skills creating and presenting drama, they will also develop knowledge and understanding of cultural and social influences on drama. Learners will analyse and evaluate how the use of self-expression, language and movement can develop their ideas for drama. Learners will develop critical thinking skills as they investigate, develop and apply a range of drama skills.

Information about typical learners who might do the Course

This Course is a broad-based qualification. It is suitable for learners with a general interest in the subject or for those wishing to progress to further levels of study.

Learners will explore, develop and communicate thoughts and ideas through creating and presenting drama using acting and production skills. They will explore voice, movement and characterisation skills. Learners will respond to stimuli, including text, and communicate their ideas with others.

Learners will apply their drama skills and production skills to present drama to communicate meaning to an audience.

The learning experiences in the Course are flexible and adaptable, with opportunities for personalisation and choice. This makes the qualification highly accessible as it can be contextualised to suit a diverse range of learners' needs and aspirations. The Course is largely learner-centred with practical and experiential learning opportunities.

On completing the Course, learners will be able to work collaboratively, communicate thoughts and ideas, create and present drama, use a range of acting and production skills when presenting to communicate meaning to an audience, show a knowledge and understanding of social and cultural influences on drama, and evaluate their own work and that of others.

Course structure and conditions of award

Course structure

The Course uses an integrated approach to learning which develops practical skills as well as knowledge and understanding of drama. As learners develop their creating skills, they will also learn how to use a range of drama skills. They will experiment with presenting through portrayal of character and by using a range of production skills.

Through creating and presenting drama, evaluation skills will also be developed as learners evaluate their own skills and progress, and that of other learners. Learners will also consider cultural values, identities and ideas which influence drama.

Units are statements of standards for assessment and not programmes of learning and teaching. They can be delivered in a number of ways.

The Course consists of two mandatory Units and the Course assessment.

Each of the component Units of the Course is designed to provide progression to the corresponding Units at Higher.
