Unit outline

This is the Added Value Unit in the Latin (National 4) Course. The general aim of this Unit is to enable the learner to provide evidence of added value for the Latin (National 4) Course through the successful completion of an assignment, which will allow the learner to demonstrate challenge and application.

The Latin (National 4) Course provides learners with the opportunity to develop the language skills of translating, understanding, analysing and evaluating. The three Units, taken together, include the language skills of translating, understanding, analysing and evaluating. The Course provides the opportunity to integrate these language skills across the Units. Each Unit also offers opportunities for learners to focus on particular skills.

Learners who complete this Unit will be able to:

- 1 Carry out an assignment which shows they can investigate the connections between a chosen topic and an aspect of Roman culture

This Unit is a mandatory Unit of the Latin (National 4) Course, and is also available as a free-standing Unit. The Unit Specification should be read in conjunction with the Course Support Notes, which provide advice and guidance on delivery and assessment approaches. Exemplification of the assessment in this Unit is given in the National Assessment Resource.

Standards

Outcomes and assessment standards

Outcome 1

The learner will:

- 1 Carry out an assignment which shows they can investigate the connections between a chosen topic and an aspect of Roman culture by:
 - 1.1 Choosing a topic for investigation in a familiar context
 - 1.2 Preparing for an investigation by describing the chosen topic with some basic supporting detail and identifying the sources to be used
 - 1.3 Investigating a chosen topic by reading at least two straightforward Latin texts
 - 1.4 Selecting basic information that is relevant to the investigation from at least two Latin texts
 - 1.5 Presenting their findings, in oral, written or digital form, on the chosen topic
 - 1.6 Describing some appropriate detail and identifying some basic aspects of Roman culture

Evidence Requirements for the Unit

This Added Value Unit is assessed internally by the teacher/lecturer.

Evidence for this Unit will be generated through an assignment in which the learner will investigate a chosen topic in a familiar context and present their findings.

All learners should be provided with a clear outline of the assessment, including when and how they will be assessed. The teacher/lecturer should offer the learner guidance on an appropriate choice of topic, including questions/tasks/prompts which will lead learners through the assignment in clear stages. This should involve advice on possible headings or other advice which assists the learner to describe and explain the key features of their topic.

While the learner should choose the topic, it would be reasonable for the choice the learner makes to be one where the teacher/lecturer has some expertise and has resources available to enable the learner to more successfully meet the Assessment Standards. The assignment should be carried out under supervised open book conditions.

Evidence for this Unit will be generated through an assignment in which the learner will investigate the connections between a chosen topic and an aspect of Roman culture.

For this Unit learners will be required to provide evidence of:

- ◆ preparation, in written or digital form, for the investigation
- ◆ selecting basic information that is relevant to the chosen topic from at least two Latin texts
- ◆ presenting their findings, in oral, written or digital form

Evidence can be gathered holistically for the Unit or Course as a whole by combining assessment through integrated activities.

The chosen topic will be agreed between the learner and the teacher/lecturer. This can be supplemented by guidelines on the structure of the assignment and with details of tasks/questions/prompts prepared by the teacher/lecturer, which the learner must address. Suggested topics for the assignment are given in the Course Support Notes.

Evidence of preparation can be in written or digital form and should identify the chosen topic with some basic supporting detail and identify the sources to be used.

Evidence of reading can be gathered from at least two texts such as written, print or digital texts. One text should be a Latin text, and the other text can be a translation of a Latin text into English or other relevant Latin sources. Learners may use a word list for key terms likely to prove difficult, as appropriate.

Evidence of selecting basic information from at least two texts can be in written or digital form and should include at least one relevant detail from each text.

Evidence of the findings on the chosen topic can be presented in oral, written or digital form. Oral presentations should be at least three minutes in total and can be supplemented with visual and audio aids such as PowerPoint slides, film/audio clips, newspaper articles, web-based or other digital media. Findings presented in either written or digital form should be at least 300 words in length.

There should be one, or in exceptional circumstances two, re-assessment opportunities. Learners can be re-assessed in the part of the assignment that they have failed rather than retaking the whole assessment.

The amount of time that learners should spend on this assignment should not exceed four hours.

Further information is provided in the exemplification of assessment in the National Assessment Resource. Advice and guidance on possible approaches to assessment is provided in the Course Support Notes.
