Unit outline

This is the Added Value Unit in the Modern Languages (National 4) Course. The general aim of this Unit is to enable the learner to provide evidence of added value for the Modern Languages (National 4) Course through the successful completion of an assignment which will allow the learner to demonstrate challenge and application.

The Modern Languages (National 4) Course provides learners with the opportunity to develop their listening and talking, reading, and writing skills in order to understand and use language. The three Units, taken together, include the four language skills of listening and talking, reading and writing. The structure of the Units enables learners to focus on the skills required to understand and use language and to integrate listening and talking, reading, and writing skills across the Units. Each Unit also offers opportunities for learners to focus on particular skills.

Learners who complete this Unit will be able to:

- 1 Carry out an assignment which shows they can investigate a chosen topic in a familiar context and present their findings in the modern language

This Unit is a mandatory Unit of the Modern Languages (National 4) Course, and is also available as a free-standing Unit. The Unit Specification should be read in conjunction with the Course Support Notes, which provide advice and guidance on delivery and assessment approaches. Exemplification of the assessment in this Unit is given in the National Assessment Resource.

Evidence Requirements for the Unit

This Added Value Unit is assessed internally by the teacher/lecturer.

Evidence for this Unit will be generated through an assignment in which the learner will investigate a chosen topic in a familiar context and present their findings.

All learners should be provided with a clear outline of the assessment, including when and how they will be assessed. The teacher/lecturer should offer the learner guidance on an appropriate choice of topic, including questions/tasks/prompts which will lead learners through the assignment in clear stages. This should involve advice on possible headings or other advice which assists the learner to describe and explain the key features of their topic.

While the learner should choose the topic, it would be reasonable for the choice the learner makes to be one where the teacher/lecturer has some expertise and has resources available to enable the learner to more successfully meet the assessment standards. The assignment should be carried out under supervised open book conditions.

For this Unit, learners will be required to provide evidence of:

- ◆ preparation, in written or digital form using English, for the investigation
- ◆ selecting basic information in the modern language that is relevant to the chosen topic from at least two straightforward sources
- ◆ using straightforward spoken language, in the modern language, lasting at least two minutes
- ◆ responding, orally using the modern language, to at least three questions/contributions

Evidence can be gathered holistically for the Unit or Course as a whole by combining assessment through integrated activities.

The chosen topic will be agreed between the learner and the teacher/lecturer. This can be supplemented by guidelines on the structure of the assignment and with details of tasks/questions/prompts prepared by the teacher/lecturer, which the learner must address. Suggested topics for the assignment are given in the Course Support Notes.

Evidence of preparation can be in written or digital form using English, and should identify the chosen topic with some basic supporting detail, and identify the sources to be used.

Evidence of reading can be gathered from at least two straightforward sources, such as written, print or digital texts. Learners may use a bilingual dictionary or a glossary of key terms likely to prove difficult, as appropriate.

Evidence of selecting basic information from at least two straightforward sources can be in written or digital form in the modern language, and should include at least one relevant detail from each source.

Evidence of using straightforward spoken language in the modern language can include learner interactions, such as conversations, discussions or presentations and can be presented in either oral or digital form, such as a podcast. Evidence of talking should be at least two minutes. Learners can supplement their evidence of spoken language with visual and audio aids, such as PowerPoint slides, film/audio clips, newspaper articles, web-based or other digital media.

Evidence of responding orally in the modern language to at least three questions/contributions by learners and teachers/lecturers should include some appropriate basic detail.

There should be one, or in exceptional circumstances two, re-assessment opportunities. Learners can be re-assessed in the part of the assignment that they have failed rather than retaking the whole assessment.

The amount of time that learners should spend on this assignment should not exceed four hours.

Further information is provided in the exemplification of assessment in the National Assessment Resource. Advice and guidance on possible approaches to assessment is provided in the Course Support Notes.
