1 Introduction

This is the Arrangements Document for the new Group Award in Make-up Artistry at SCQF level 6, which was validated in September 2009. This document includes: background information on the development of the Group Award, its aims, guidance on access, details of the Group Award structure, and guidance on delivery.

2 Rationale for the development of the Group Award

The predecessor National Certificate Units for Make-up Artistry in the SQA catalogue were used by a large number of centres. This meant that candidates were presented with the centres' own in-house certificate. There is a high uptake of the predecessor NC Units and centres had indicated the need for a review of the Units and a recognised Group Award in Make-up Artistry. The NC Beauty Care and Make-Up Award at SCQF level 5 was created in response to this demand. It was the intention to create a two year NC programme to fill the gap within individual centres own provision.

This National Certificate Award is designed to provide candidates with the skills, knowledge and understanding required to equip them for entry to employment in a junior role or for progression to further academic and/or professional qualifications.

The qualifications have been designed to meet the needs of the following target groups:

- ◆ School leavers

6 Approaches to delivery and assessment

6.1 Content and context

This National Certificate Group Award is not designed to train individuals to full industrial competence. Rather it will place an emphasis on developing the basic skills and knowledge required to engage in the next stages of acquisition of those skills and knowledge which will be attractive to future employers both within and outwith the Beauty industry. Candidates can then build on these skills when working towards achieving an HNC/HND or SVQ award.

This award should be delivered within the context of Make-up Artistry. This will enable candidates to develop a greater understanding of terminology, safety, working practices, research methods, personal skills, commercial targets and strategic industry objectives.

The intention is that candidates undertaking any of the Units will gain personal skills and knowledge which can lead towards future employment. Candidates will develop a broad knowledge of the industry and the accepted practices within.

Delivery requires candidates to be well supported in the initial stages and supported throughout to ensure that standards were being maintained and that there was no compromise on health or safety issues at any time.

Assessments would, where appropriate, be observational, recorded evidence. The skills developed will have a practical focus which will be carried out in a realistic work environment.

6.2 Delivery and assessment

The structure of the qualification allows a high degree of flexibility in the delivery owing to the very practical nature of the award. It is recommended that a realistic learning environment is available for delivery.

This award can be offered on a full-time, part-time, block release, day release or evening. Combination of delivery is also a possibility. Centres wishing to provide a full time programme might include more optional Units from the frameworks.

Opportunities exist for integrative delivery of Units within the award. Assessments should be encouraged to be within the application of Practical Units. Assessment Support Packs (ASPs) will identify specific opportunities for integration with other Units.

The Assessment Strategy is designed to ensure an appropriate level of rigour whilst not imposing excessive demands on centres or candidates. The Design Principles for the award encourage a holistic approach to assessment and this has been adopted in each Unit specification for this award.

Each Unit Specification includes guidance on delivery and assessment and where applicable, any relationship with delivery and assessment of other Units.

Assessment Guidance includes a variety of conditions including open-book, folio and practical activities.

Assessment Support Packs (ASPs) are available for all Mandatory Units. This provide guidance on content, context, evidence required, consultation sheets, folios and checklists with clearly stated standards. Centres are recommended to use the ASP templates if they are producing their own instruments of assessments.

Assessment Guidance is provided in each Unit Specification. Many Units offer opportunities for integrative assessment covering one or more Performance Criteria. Centres can decide the order in which Units are delivered, based on candidate recruitment patterns, mode of delivery, resource issues and logical progression dictated by topics and Unit content/level.

Throughout all Units there is an emphasis on the application of Health and Safety legislation. Safe working practices should be looked at in accordance with current safety codes of practice and regulations.
