Develop productive working relationships with colleagues

Overview

Managers are expected to develop working and business relationships with colleagues, within their own organisation and within other organisations. Managers should form relationships that are productive and effective in delivering the work of the organisation.

'Colleagues' are any people who work with the manager, whether they are at a similar position in the organisation or in other positions. The employment status of the colleagues covers the spectrum from full time paid employees to part-time unpaid volunteers.

The unit is divided into two parts.

The first part describes what you have to do and how you should behave.

The second part describes the knowledge and understanding you must have.

The unit is recommended for first line managers and others operating at that level.
