Summary

This Unit is a free-standing unit which is suitable for learners who have an interest in a specific language but who have no prior knowledge of that language.

In the course of this Unit, learners will develop the skill of speaking to allow them to communicate at a very basic level in a range of contexts relevant to their needs and interests. On completion of the Unit, candidates will be able to pursue further development in the skill of speaking at SCQF level 4. This Unit is one of a suite of four single-skill credit Units at SCQF level 3.

Outcomes

- 1 Take part in a basic discussion on matters of personal interest in the specific language.
- 2 Obtain or provide information/a service in a transactional context in the specific language.

Recommended entry

While entry is at the discretion of the centre, candidates would normally be expected to have attained one of the following, or equivalent:

- ◆ an Access 3 NC course or Unit in the same language or any other language
- ◆ the corresponding Mandarin Units for Listening, Reading and Writing at this level

General information (cont)

Unit title: Mandarin: Speaking (SCQF level 3)

Credit points and level

1 credit at Access 3 (6 SCQF points at SCQF level 3*).

SCQF credit points are used to allocate credit to qualifications in the Scottish Credit and Qualifications Framework (SCQF). Each qualification in the Framework is allocated a number of SCQF credit points at an SCQF level. There are 12 SCQF levels, ranging from Access 1 to Doctorates.*

Core Skills

There is no automatic certification of Core Skills in this Unit.

National Unit specification: statement of standards

Unit title: Mandarin: Speaking (SCQF level 3)

Acceptable performance in this Unit will be the satisfactory achievement of the standards set out in this part of the Unit specification. All sections of the statement of standards are mandatory and cannot be altered without reference to SQA.

Outcome 1

Take part in a basic discussion on matters of personal interest in the specific language.

Performance Criteria

- (a) Use appropriate forms of address, including conventional greetings / leave-takings.
- (b) Exchange relevant information as appropriate.
- (c) Communicate effectively despite inaccuracies.
- (d) Demonstrate sufficiently accurate pronunciation to ensure comprehension.

Outcome 2

Obtain or provide information/a service in a transactional context in the specific language.

Performance Criteria

- (a) Use appropriate forms of address, including conventional greetings / leave-takings.
- (b) Complete the transaction, conveying the required information as appropriate.
- (c) Communicate effectively despite inaccuracies.
- (d) Demonstrate sufficiently accurate pronunciation to ensure comprehension.

Evidence Requirements for this Unit

Evidence is required to demonstrate that candidates have achieved all the Outcomes and Performance Criteria.

The specific evidence required for each Outcome is detailed below.

For Outcome 1, candidates will take part in a straightforward discussion with one other person. During the discussion, candidates will be expected to provide at least six pieces of information about him/herself in response to prompts, and to ask at least one relevant question of the interlocutor. In addition, candidates must use appropriate conventions to begin and conclude the discussion. The assessment will be supportive and candidates will be permitted to request clarification/repetition in the specific language. The evidence will be generated on one assessment occasion and a written record/checklist will be retained by the assessor.

The evidence will be produced under supervised conditions.

The approximate duration of the discussion should be two minutes.

For Outcome 2, candidates will participate in a simple transaction with one other person, in the course of which they may have to either provide or obtain the relevant information or service, depending on the context. During the exchange of information, candidates will be expected to make at least six statements relevant to the transactional context, and to ask at least one question of the interlocutor. In addition, candidates must use appropriate conventions to begin and conclude the exchange. The assessment will be supportive and candidates will be permitted to request clarification/repetition in the specific language. The evidence will be generated on one assessment occasion and a written record/checklist will be retained by the assessor.

The evidence will be produced under supervised conditions.

The approximate duration of the transactional exchange should be two minutes.

At this level, in speaking it is permissible for the candidates to mispronounce words and use structures and words inaccurately as long as their contribution to the discussion can still be understood. The evidence for both Outcomes may be produced at appropriate points throughout the Unit, or towards the end of the Unit when candidates will have had the opportunity to develop their speaking skills. If a centre wishes to integrate the assessment of Outcomes 1 and 2, it must ensure that all evidence is produced under the conditions stated above.

To achieve the Performance Criteria and Evidence Requirements for both Outcomes, assessments should not exceed a total time of 4 minutes.

The standard to be applied and the breadth of coverage are illustrated in the Assessment Support Pack (ASP) available for this Unit. Exemplification of good assessment practice and assessor checklists can also be found in the ASP for this Unit. When a centre designs its own assessments they should be of a comparable standard.

National Unit specification: support notes

Unit title: Mandarin: Speaking (SCQF level 3)

This part of the Unit specification is offered as guidance. The support notes are not mandatory.

While the exact time allocated to this Unit is at the discretion of the centre, the notional design length is 40 hours.

Guidance on the content and context for this Unit

This free-standing Unit is suitable for learners who have not previously studied a language. Alternatively, it offers progression for learners who, on completion of a language course or unit in one language, wish to continue to develop their language skills in a different language.

As stated in the Summary, this Unit has been designed to be delivered in a context which is relevant to the needs and interests of the learners. As such it offers a built-in flexibility which allows the teacher/lecturer to adapt the content in order to suit the particular situations, interests and needs of his/her learner group or of individual learners.

While the Unit offers flexibility, it is nevertheless envisaged that coverage of some of the following topic areas would be appropriate:

Personal Language

- ◆ personal details
- ◆ family and family history
- ◆ interests and leisure activities
- ◆ likes / dislikes (food and drink, sport, etc)
- ◆ holidays
- ◆ health issues
- ◆ job-related vocabulary and expressions
- ◆ days of week and months

Transactional Language

- ◆ numbers
- ◆ time
- ◆ public transport
- ◆ asking the way and giving directions
- ◆ providing and obtaining services (restaurant, hotel, tourist information, etc)
- ◆ shops and shopping (prices, quantity, size)
- ◆ alphabet

Some of the proposed topics may be more relevant in certain contexts than in others. Teachers/lecturers have the flexibility to develop the language content to fit the needs of their learners, provided that in so doing, they offer sufficient coverage of relevant topics to allow their learners to achieve the Learning Outcomes and Performance Criteria.

Unit title: Mandarin: Speaking (SCQF level 3)

Although this Unit is designed as free-standing, it could also be part of a cross-curricular package, with centres taking the opportunity to deliver it in conjunction with other units, for example in the areas of Hospitality, Travel and Tourism, Business Administration and Care. Similarly, links could be made between this Unit and the corresponding Units at SCQF level 3 which develop the skills of Listening, Reading and Writing. The teacher/lecturer should consider the opportunity of integrating the delivery of this Unit with one or more of the corresponding single credit Units at this level. For example, a meaningful integration for candidates would be of the units which develop the skills of Speaking and Listening.

On completion of this Unit, candidates would be expected to be able to communicate on a very basic level on some of the following:

Personal Language

- ◆ provide simple personal details (name, age, nationality, date of birth, family situation/history)
- ◆ talk about interests and leisure activities
- ◆ talk about likes and dislikes
- ◆ talk about holidays
- ◆ talk about health issues
- ◆ talk about job situation
- ◆ ask a speaker of the language about any of the above

Transactional Language

- ◆ use appropriate formal greetings
- ◆ ask the way and give directions
- ◆ order food and drink in a restaurant /café
- ◆ make purchases (price/size/colour, etc)
- ◆ provide/request information about public transport
- ◆ book rooms in a hotel
- ◆ alphabet

Delivery of the Unit could focus on those aspects of the above lists of topics and language content which are of particular relevance to the needs of specific learner groups. The approach adopted should reflect the principles of the communicative approach to language learning and teaching.

Guidance on learning and teaching approaches for this Unit

Learning and teaching should embrace a variety of communicative activities relating to the proposed topic areas, such as:

- ◆ role-plays
- ◆ group work
- ◆ simulations
- ◆ meeting others at home or abroad

Unit title: Mandarin: Speaking (SCQF level 3)

Although the skills of Listening, Reading and Writing are not assessed in this Unit, learners should be encouraged to undertake straightforward activities in these skills which are relevant to their individual requirements. The teacher/lecturer should consider the opportunity of integrating the delivery of this Unit with one or more of the corresponding single skill Units at this level.

Opportunities for developing Core Skills

Throughout this Unit learners will concentrate on speaking activities. These activities are ideal opportunities for learners to develop aspects of the Core Skill of Communication.

Guidance on approaches to assessment for this Unit

The key principle in the assessment of this Unit is that the necessary information is exchanged as appropriate and as far as possible within an authentic and naturally occurring exchange of information with the degree of accuracy required to ensure comprehension

The two Outcomes focus on the productive use of the specific language. Learning Outcome 1 requires the learner to demonstrate his/her ability to participate in a brief discussion in the target language, whereas Learning Outcome 2 involves the learner in successfully carrying out a transaction by either obtaining or providing information as appropriate. The two Outcomes can be achieved individually, but centres may choose to adopt an integrative approach, whereby both Outcomes are achieved during the same assessment activity.

Assessments should be a natural result of the learning and teaching process, and as such should be conducted at an appropriate point in the delivery of the Unit. Candidates who satisfy both Outcomes and the Performance Criteria under the conditions stated in the Evidence Requirements will achieve the Unit award.

Re-assessment.

There should be one reassessment opportunity, or in exceptional cases two, for each of the Learning Outcomes.

Disabled candidates and/or those with additional support needs

The additional support needs of individual candidates should be taken into account when planning learning experiences, selecting assessment instruments, or considering whether any reasonable adjustments may be required.
