UNIT Historical Study - Scottish and British (Intermediate 1)

NUMBER D255 10

COURSE History (Intermediate 1)

SUMMARY

This is a component unit of Intermediate 1 History. This unit can also be offered as a free-standing unit.

This unit seeks to develop knowledge and understanding of a chosen historical topic, along with skills of communication and independent thinking. The topic should be chosen from one of three broad periods of Scottish and British History. The three period options are: Medieval, Early Modern and Later Modern History.

Successful candidates will be able to explain historical developments and events using presented sources of information and a limited range of recalled knowledge. They will also be able to evaluate historical evidence as presented in given sources.

This unit has been designed to meet the needs of:

- candidates undertaking an Intermediate 1 course in History
- candidates undertaking a unit for personal interest
- candidates, for example adult returners, coming to History with little immediate experience of the subject area
- candidates undertaking a Scottish Group Award

National Unit Specification: statement of standards

UNIT Historical Study - Scottish and British (Intermediate 1)

Acceptable performance in this unit will be the satisfactory achievement of the standards set out in this part of the unit specification. All sections of the statement of standards are mandatory and cannot be altered without reference to the Scottish Qualifications Authority.

NOTE ON RANGE FOR THIS UNIT

There are no specific requirements as to the range of contexts within which the outcomes and performance criteria should be demonstrated. Differentiation between Intermediate 1 and Intermediate 2 is achieved through the amount and level of detail required. For further guidance on the range of content to be covered, see the support notes. The level of difficulty of a unit is defined not just by the performance criteria but by their application in the context of a particular area of content and a particular set of themes.

OUTCOME 1

Demonstrate knowledge and understanding of historical developments and events.

Performance criteria

- (a) The knowledge selected from recall and presented sources is relevant to the developments or events addressed.
- (b) The knowledge selected from recall and presented sources demonstrates accurate understanding of the topic and its themes.

OUTCOME 2

Explain historical developments and events.

Performance criteria

- (a) The explanation is supported by accurate information selected from recall and presented sources.
- (b) The explanation is supported by relevant information selected from recall and presented sources.

OUTCOME 3

Evaluate historical sources.

Performance criteria

- (a) The evaluation of the sources takes account of their origin or purpose.
- (b) The evaluation of the sources demonstrates understanding of their content.

UNIT Historical Study - Scottish and British (Intermediate 1)

Evidence requirements

Evidence of attainment for the above outcomes can be provided through responses to short-answer questions based on recall and/or sources. This evidence must satisfy all of the above outcomes in relation to the chosen historical context. Within each outcome, the evidence must demonstrate or imply satisfaction of all of the performance criteria. The candidate's work must be completed under supervision, without collaboration, the assistance of notes or teacher/lecturer advice.

The evidence should relate to the context chosen for study in this unit. Candidates should select one context from the following list:

- 1 Murder in the Cathedral: Crown, Church and People 1154 73
- Wallace, Bruce and the Wars of Independence 1286 1328
- 3 Mary Queen of Scots and the Scottish Reformation 1540s 87
- 4 'Ane End of Ane Auld Sang': Scotland and the Treaty of Union 1690s 1715
- 5 Immigrants and Exiles: Scotland 1830s 1930s
- 6 From the Cradle to the Grave? Social Welfare in Britain 1890s 1951
- 7 Campaigning for Change: Social Change in Scotland 1900s -79
- 8 A Time of Troubles: Ireland 1900 23

Details of this content may be found in the support notes. The support notes also lay out the relationship between this and the content of the rest of the Intermediate 1 History course.

Evidence provided will sample the chosen content area. Outcomes and performance criteria must be fulfilled with reference to this sample.

UNIT Historical Study - Scottish and British (Intermediate 1)

This part of the unit specification is offered as guidance. The support notes are not mandatory.

While the time allocated to this unit is at the discretion of the centre, the notional design length is 40 hours.

GUIDANCE ON CONTENT AND CONTEXT FOR THIS UNIT

The choice of content for each topic within this unit is based upon a series of historical themes. These are specific to the topic studied, for example, belief, community, conflict, power. These themes assist teachers in selecting content and in assessment. Understanding of these themes may be demonstrated without explicit reference to them. A full list is provided below.

Candidates will be required to study one of the following specified contexts. Through these contexts important themes of Scottish and British History may be studied across the breadth of historical periods, Medieval, Early Modern and Later Modern. Each context constitutes an important area of historical study in its own right as well as providing a progression to further study.

Candidates should select one context from the following list:

- 1 Murder in the Cathedral: Crown, Church and People 1154 73
- Wallace, Bruce and the Wars of Independence 1286 1328
- 3 Mary Queen of Scots and the Scottish Reformation 1540s 87
- 4 'Ane End of Ane Auld Sang': Scotland and the Treaty of Union 1690s 1715
- 5 Immigrants and Exiles: Scotland 1830s 1930s.
- 6 From the Cradle to the Grave? Social Welfare in Britain 1890s 1951
- 7 Campaigning for Change: Social Change in Scotland 1900s 79
- 8 A Time of Troubles: Ireland 1900 23

The content for each topic is detailed below.

GUIDANCE ON TEACHING AND LEARNING APPROACHES IN THIS UNIT

While undertaking this unit candidates should be provided with the opportunity to:

- interpret and evaluate historical source material
- record information from a variety of sources, such as books, notes, lectures, audio-visual materials
- take part in formal discussion to develop the ability to think independently and make informed judgements
- develop the skills of producing written or oral responses for a variety of purposes

It is important that candidates should be familiar with the historical themes that run through the chosen topic and not simply learn about a series of discrete historical issues.

Teaching methodology

The methodology used by teachers/lecturers will be built on existing good practice. The knowledge and understanding of the themes and content delivered in this unit should be linked to the development of skills of interpretation and analysis to provide insight and encourage respect for available evidence.

Teacher/lecturer exposition will provide a basis for class work in this unit. Opportunities should be provided to develop candidates' abilities to take notes. Time should be allowed for class and group discussion. A variety of resources should be used including textbooks, information sheets and appropriate primary source materials. Materials and strategies should be designed to provide for the whole ability range - core/extension, groupwork, individual work. Advice from the Learning Support staff should be drawn upon in designing appropriately differentiated course materials.

GUIDANCE ON APPROACHES TO ASSESSMENT FOR THIS UNIT

The National Assessment Bank will provide exemplar assessment instruments and guidance on implementation. This does not preclude teachers/lecturers from devising their own assessment tasks.

Assessment can be administered at appropriate points throughout the unit or at the end of the unit. Tasks could be used which relate primarily to each outcome. An alternative approach is to use more extended tasks which allow candidates to demonstrate achievement in more than one outcome. It would be necessary to ensure that all learning outcomes and performance criteria were covered in this instrument of assessment. It would be possible to use similar instruments of assessment to those used in the external assessment.

UNIT Historical Study - Scottish and British (Intermediate 1)

The instrument of assessment for this unit can be in the form of short answers based on recall and/or sources. This assessment should be administered under supervision, without collaboration or the assistance of notes or teacher/lecturer.

Where a candidate has failed to achieve one or more of the outcomes, a reassessment may be undertaken after appropriate remediation. It is only necessary to reassess competence in the outcomes or performance criteria which the candidate has failed to achieve. In this unit, this may involve revisiting some or all of the candidate's responses under similar conditions to the first attempt. If the candidate remains unsuccessful in all or part of the unit, different tasks should be used for a subsequent reassessment.

Where accessible tasks can be set which will allow candidates to demonstrate competence beyond the minimum standard required, evidence gathered for internal unit assessment may also be used for grade prediction and for appeals for external course assessment. (For details of the grade descriptions for the external assessment, please refer to the course specification.)

The evidence can be gathered towards or at the end of the unit and should fulfil the requirements set out in the statement of standards.

Qualifications to which this unit contributes

This unit is one of three mandatory units which together make up the course in Intermediate 1 History. The other two units are Historical Study - European and World (Int 1) and Historical Study - Options (Int 1). Both have the same outcomes as this unit. In order to achieve certification in this course, candidates have to attain the outcomes for all three units which are internally assessed and to attain at least a C in the external assessment.

This unit could also be undertaken as a component of a Scottish Group Award.

CANDIDATES WITH DISABILITIES AND/OR ADDITIONAL SUPPORT NEEDS

The additional support needs of individual candidates should be taken into account when planning learning experiences, selecting assessment instruments, or considering alternative Outcomes for Units. Further advice can be found in the SQA document Guidance on Assessment Arrangements for Candidates with Disabilities and/or Additional Support Needs www.sqa.org.uk
