Unit purpose

This unit is a mandatory unit within the National Progression Award (NPA) in Sports Coaching.

The purpose of this unit is to assist the learner to develop a range of analytical techniques. These techniques will then be used to plan linked coaching sessions which are appropriate to the identified needs of the participants.

This unit is suitable for learners who have previous experience of coaching this sport.

Outcomes

On successful completion of the unit the learner will be able to:

- 1 Establish participants' current and potential needs and key performance factors within the coaching programme.
- 2 Design and plan coaching programmes that support participants' needs.
- 3 Produce evaluation schedule which takes account of changing needs and aspirations of participants and others.

Credit points and level

1 National Unit credit at SCQF level 6: (6 SCQF credit points at SCQF level 6)

Outcome 3

Produce an evaluation schedule which takes account of the changing needs and aspirations of participants and others.

Performance criteria

- (a) Establish appropriate timings for evaluation activity during the programme.
- (b) Establish appropriate methods for the evaluation activity which will be conducted during the programme.
- (c) Discuss with participants and others the proposed evaluation schedule.
- (d) Modify the evaluation schedule in line with feedback received from participants and others.

Evidence requirements for this unit

Evidence is required to demonstrate that learners have achieved all outcomes and performance criteria.

The assessment for this unit must be conducted under supervised, controlled conditions. It is expected that much of the evidence for this unit will arise from a real coaching environment. Learners must deliver a series of linked sessions to cover an eight week discrete cycle or phase in the sport.

Product and performance evidence, supplemented by an assessor checklist, is required to demonstrate that the learner has achieved all the outcomes and performance criteria.

- ◆ Product evidence in the form of a log must be provided which includes a reflective account of a discrete cycle/phase covering the eight week period. This log must provide evidence that the learner has achieved all the requirements of Outcomes 1 (b) to (e), Outcome 2 and Outcome 3.
- ◆ Performance evidence, supplemented by an assessor checklist must be provided which shows that the learner has met the requirements of Outcome 1 (a) and (f). The performance must be gathered during two sessions within the eight week discrete cycle in the sport.

As each session has an element of unpredictability, supplementary questions may be required to ensure all performance criteria are covered appropriately. When these are used, the questions asked, along with the responses made, should be recorded.

Guidance on approaches to delivery of this unit

If this unit is delivered as part of the NPA in Sports Coaching, the unit must be delivered in the same sports context as the other units within the group award.

Learners will already be involved in the coaching process and they will be expected to be familiar with the S/NGB requirements for:

- ◆ Health and safety requirements and legislation for the coaching programme and resources
- ◆ Welfare of participants and others
- ◆ Participants' safe and effective development
- ◆ Techniques, coaching styles and skills of sport
- ◆ Customer service
- ◆ Analysis and development of performance
- ◆ Management of confidential information

Unit title: Analyse Participants' Needs and Plan a Coaching Programme: Equestrian Reining (SCQF level 6)

These may be given to the learner in advance for study and may be supported by group work, case study, question and answer sessions etc. This will have to be put into a practical setting of the selected sport.

Learners should be given the opportunity to develop and refine skills in designing a programme and to develop their skills in critical analyses and should be encouraged to develop their knowledge of a range of techniques that can be used for analyses and to be aware of the ever changing nature of coaching and its theories. Learners should be working with participants and others to analyse their information on their potential and their current performance, specialist support and referral processes and should also be able to take account of the various factors that apply in the development of a plan and to consider how the plan may be evaluated to allow future development to take place.

Guidance on approaches to assessment of this unit

The assessment for this unit must be conducted under supervised, controlled conditions. It is expected that much of the evidence for this unit will arise from a real coaching environment. Learners must deliver a series of linked sessions to cover an eight week discrete cycle or phase in the sport. Within this eight week discrete cycle, the learner will be formally observed and assessed on two occasions. The learner is also required to maintain a reflective log of activities. Supplementary questions and answers may be required to address any aspects of the sessions where evidence cannot be generated. Alternatively centres may wish to consider the use of 'case study' or 'role play' in these circumstances.

While each outcome may be individually assessed, it is recommended that the unit be assessed in a holistic manner with learners gathering their evidence in a log together with any supplementary questions and responses that may be needed.

This unit focuses on practical activities within the coaching experience and as such recording and retention of evidence is extremely important. It is anticipated that:

- ◆ learners will keep an accurate record of a continuous and reflective report containing the following:
 - session plans for the eight week programme containing information about participants current and potential performance. The plan must also contain: progression, good practice, consistency, timing, sequences, volume and intensity.
 - review strategies with participants — evidence of negotiation and agreement with participants on the methods of collection for a variety of information for the purposes of analysis to allow for prioritising participants' performance needs.
 - notes concerning specialist support — explanations on how the referral process works. In the event of no referral is required the learner will explain in principle how the process would work.
 - confidentiality of participant material — evidence to be gathered to show the learner has an understanding of the appropriate guidelines when dealing with information that may be confidential. This may be in a real situation or supported by appropriate questioning.
 - use of human and physical resources to support the coaching programme.

Unit title: Analyse Participants' Needs and Plan a Coaching Programme: Equestrian Reining (SCQF level 6)

- ◆ contingency plans and potential risks should be identified and any adaptation to meet the needs of a range of participants.
- ◆ what steps the learner has taken to retain participants throughout the coaching programme.
- ◆ action plans developed from appropriate feedback.
- ◆ evaluation schedule should contain evidence of what has been negotiated and agreed and used in the coaching process and future plans must take account of the findings.
- ◆ an assessor observation checklist will be provided for two sessions from the eight week programme. This checklist should include details of the participants' understanding of the evaluation schedule and must also use a range of communication styles, methods used by participants and should show evidence of the learner coaching the programme and taking into account: negotiation, agreement, goal setting, technical knowledge, delivery mode(s) and coaching style(s).
- ◆ records will be provided of any additional questions used where the real coaching environment has not elicited the required evidence.

At this level, the learner is expected to be able to provide advice and guidance to other coaches to allow them to develop their own coaching practice and this may also be included within the learner's log. Learner's evidence for this unit may be electronic or paper based.

Evidence can be generated using different types of assessment. The following are suggestions only. There may be other methods that would be more suitable to learners.

Centres are reminded that prior verification of centre-devised assessments would help to ensure that the national standard is being met. Where learners experience a range of assessment methods, this helps them to develop different skills that should be transferable to work or further and higher education.

Opportunities for e-assessment

E-assessment may be appropriate for some assessments in this unit. By e-assessment we mean assessment which is supported by Information and Communication Technology (ICT), such as e-testing or the use of e-portfolios or social software. Centres which wish to use e-assessment must ensure that the national standard is applied to all learner evidence and that conditions of assessment as specified in the evidence requirements are met, regardless of the mode of gathering evidence. The most up-to-date guidance on the use of e-assessment to support SQA's qualifications is available at www.sqa.org.uk/e-assessment.

Opportunities for developing Core and other essential skills

While undertaking this unit, learners are required to analyse the needs and aspirations of sports participants. Learners are also required to manage, negotiate and explain aspect of the coaching programme. These activities may present opportunities for development of aspects of the Core Skill in Communication.

Depending upon the recording system that the learner uses, there may also be opportunities to develop aspect of the Core Skill in Information and Communication Technology (ICT), eg where information is recorded in an electronic medium.

Learners will be required to negotiate and agree a course of action with participants and others which may present opportunities to develop aspects of the Core Skills in Problem Solving and Working with Others.

General information for learners

Unit title: Analyse Participants' Needs and Plan a Coaching Programme: Equestrian Reining (SCQF level 6)

This section will help you decide whether this is the unit for you by explaining what the unit is about, what you should know or be able to do before you start, what you will need to do during the unit and opportunities for further learning and employment.

You will be undertaking this unit alongside the units:

Manage and Develop Personal Coaching Programmes and Practice at SCQF level 6
Manage a Coaching Environment Manage a Coaching Environment at SCQF level 6 Deliver a Coaching Programme at SCQF level 6

All these units form one complete course of work and you will make use of information gathered from one unit to effectively complete the next unit of work.

You will be required to investigate the needs of the participants and note the key performance factors within the coaching programme. This will involve negotiation and agreeing how you will do that as it forms the basis of the complete programme.

You will need to analyse and record this data and prioritise needs using the information gathered. At each stage you will need to be able to justify the use of any specialist support and understand how and when you would refer a participant, eg when you cannot best meet their specific needs.

Keep in mind that much data will be confidential in nature and must be dealt with professionally and within legal guidelines.

After this stage you will develop the programme taking account of realistic goals, best practice, participants' needs, progression, etc (The list is not exhaustive).

You will need again to be able to justify what you plan, the methods planned for coaching and any risk factors anticipated. Resources planning will be required which supports the overall plan and is realistic.

As you will be aware by this stage, evaluation is of course required to progress and this will need to be planned and take account of timings and methods of evaluation. This will itself be subject to revision and feedback and will involve feedback from others and well as your own feelings and thoughts.

Performance evidence will cover an eight week discrete cycle and at least two assessed sessions. Sessions must be linked.

You will keep a log book and your assessor will also comment and use a checklist to ensure that you have addressed all unit requirements.

You will appreciate that when dealing with real participants, there will inevitably be an element of unpredictability and your assessor may well make use of additional questions to ensure that any adaptations made can be justified. If you achieve the associated units for this NPA, the Scottish Governing body for the sport will recognise your qualification and this can lead to advancement in your coaching career.
