Unit outline

The general aim of this Unit is to develop routine skills of using information to compare and/or contrast and develop a basic knowledge and understanding of aspects of people and society. Learners will use these skills and draw on their basic knowledge and understanding of a topic or issue with contemporary or historical relevance in Scotland, in an inter-disciplinary way, from the perspective of at least two of the social subject/social science disciplines.

Learners who complete this Unit will be able to:

- 1 Use routine skills to compare and contrast information.
- 2 Draw on their basic knowledge and understanding of topics or issues in an interdisciplinary way.

This Unit is an alternative mandatory Unit of the National 3 People and Society Course, an optional Unit in the Scottish Studies Award at SCQF level 3 and is also available as a free-standing Unit. The Unit Specification should be read in conjunction with the Unit Support Notes which provide advice and guidance on delivery, assessment approaches and development of skills for learning, skills for life and skills for work.

Equality and inclusion

This Unit Specification has been designed to ensure that there are no unnecessary barriers to learning or assessment. The individual needs of learners should be taken into account when planning learning experiences, selecting assessment methods or considering alternative evidence. For further information, please refer to the Unit Support Notes.

Evidence Requirements for the Unit

Assessors should use their professional judgement, subject knowledge and experience, and understanding of their learners, to determine the most appropriate ways to generate evidence and the conditions and contexts in which they are used.

Evidence is required to show that the learner has met the Outcomes and Assessment Standards.

The sources of information used may be written, numerical, graphical, pictorial, audio-visual, digital or oral.

Assessment evidence can be drawn from a variety of activities and presented in a variety of formats, including, for example, presentations, posters, brief written responses to questions and participation in group tasks. All of the evidence does not need to be from one activity, but can be assembled from a variety of tasks and assessments carried out during the duration of the Course.

Assessment evidence must demonstrate that the learner is able to:

- ◆ use two key ideas with contemporary or historical relevance in Scotland, drawn from social subjects/social science disciplines
- ◆ adopt an inter-disciplinary approach by using the perspective of two social subject/social science disciplines

Each Unit in the Course must be linked to two key ideas drawn from the social subjects/social sciences. A full list of these key ideas is shown below.

behaviour	ethics
beliefs	heritage
cause	identity
change	interdependence
citizenship	need
conflict	power
consequence	responsibilities
co-operation	rights

Development of skills for learning, skills for life and skills for work

It is expected that learners will develop broad, generic skills through this Unit. The skills that learners will be expected to improve on and develop through the Unit are based on SQA's Skills Framework: Skills for Learning, Skills for Life and Skills for Work and drawn from the main skills areas listed below. These must be built into the Unit where there are appropriate opportunities.

1 Literacy

- 1.1 Reading
- 1.2 Writing
- 1.3 Listening and talking

4 Employability, enterprise and citizenship

- 4.6 Citizenship

5 Thinking skills

- 5.3 Applying

Amplification of these is given in SQA's Skills Framework: Skills for Learning, Skills for Life and Skills for Work. The level of these skills should be at the same SCQF level of the Unit and be consistent with the SCQF level descriptor. Further information on building in skills for learning, skills for life and skills for work is given in the Unit Support Notes.
