Choose ONE scenario on Page two and write your answer clearly, in French, in the space provided in this booklet. You must clearly identify the scenario number you are attempting.

You may use a French dictionary.

Additional space for answers is provided at the end of this booklet.

Use blue or black ink.

There is a separate answer booklet for Reading. You must complete your answers for Reading in the answer booklet for Reading.

Before leaving the examination room you must give this Directed Writing question and answer booklet and your Reading answer booklet to the Invigilator; if you do not, you may lose all the marks for this paper.

Choose one of the following two scenarios.

SCENARIO 1: Employability

You have recently returned from France where you have spent two months working in a holiday camp for children (une colonie de vacances).

On your return you have been asked to write an account, in French, of your experiences.

You must include the following information and you should try to add other relevant details:

- where the camp was and how you travelled there
- what you did to help with activities for the children
- what you thought about the job
- whether or not you would recommend this type of experience to others

You should write approximately 120–150 words.

OR

SCENARIO 2: Culture

You have recently returned from France where you have spent three weeks staying with a French family.

On your return you have been asked to write an account, in French, of your visit.

You must include the following information and you should try to add other relevant details:

- where exactly you went and what the area was like
- how you got on with the people you met
- what you liked/disliked about your stay
- how you think you will benefit from spending time living with a French family

You should write approximately 120–150 words.

General Marking Principles for Higher French Directed Writing

This information is provided to help you understand the general principles that you must apply when marking candidate responses to questions in this paper. These principles must be read in conjunction with the detailed Marking Instructions, which identify the key features required in candidate responses.

- (a) Candidates will write a piece of extended writing in French addressing a scenario that has four related bullet points. Candidates must address each bullet point. The first bullet point contains two pieces of information to be addressed. The remaining three bullet points contain one piece of information each. There is a choice of two scenarios and learners must choose one of these.
- (b) Marks for each candidate response must always be assigned in line with these general marking principles and the detailed Marking Instructions for the directed writing scenario.
- (c) For each of the types of writing (Directed Writing or Writing), the marker should select the pegged mark that most closely describes the candidate's performance.
- (d) Marking should be holistic. There may be strengths and weaknesses in the piece of writing; markers should focus as far as possible on the strengths, taking account of weaknesses only where they significantly detract from the overall impression. Marks should be awarded for the candidate's demonstration of ability in the three main characteristics in writing:
 - i) content
 - ii) accuracy
 - iii) language resource - variety, range, structure
- (e) Markers can award the highest pegged mark for writing even if there are minor errors. These should not detract from the overall impression.
- (f) Candidates may display ability across more than one pegged mark descriptor. Markers should recognise the closeness of the pegged mark descriptors and consider carefully the most appropriate overall pegged mark based on the candidate's performance.
- (g) Markers must adhere to the following general marking principle in situations where the candidate has not addressed one or more bullet points:
 - i) If a candidate has failed to address one of the bullet points, the maximum mark that can be awarded is 6.
 - ii) If a candidate has failed to address two of the bullet points, the maximum mark that can be awarded is 4.
 - iii) If a candidate has failed to address three or more of the bullet points, the maximum mark that can be awarded is 0.

The table below gives further guidance to markers. If:

the candidate only addresses one part of one of the introductory, more predictable bullet points	In such a case the candidate is deemed to have not addressed the bullet point and the maximum mark that can be awarded is 6.
some bullet points fit into one category but others are in the next, lower category	It is important to look carefully at which bullet points are better addressed. If the better sections include the more predictable, introductory bullet point, the marker is less likely to be generous than if responses to unpredictable bullet points are of a better quality. If there is a serious decline after the initial bullet point, a lower mark must be awarded. It is also important to consider the balance of the bullet points. Sometimes a candidate writes twice as much about the opening bullet point as for the three remaining bullet points, or even about information that is not covered by any of the bullet points. In such cases, the lower mark being considered should be awarded.
the marker is having great difficulty in deciding whether the writing is good enough to pass	It is essential to consider carefully the accuracy of the verbs overall. If more verbs are correct than incorrect, it is likely that the candidate deserves to pass, unless there are many other inaccuracies in the writing.
the directed writing, from the point of view of content, looks as if it belongs in a top category, but contains some possibly serious grammatical errors as a result of using relatively advanced structures combined with a less than confident knowledge of more basic structures	This is a case where the candidate is more adventurous, but less accurate. It is always important to assess what it is the candidate can do, and thus highlight the positive. However, in such cases, it is likely that the candidate will be awarded 6.
