1 Introduction

1.1 General

This document was previously known as the Arrangements document. The purpose of this document is to:

- ◆ assist centres to implement, deliver and manage the qualification.
- ◆ provide a guide for new staff involved in offering the qualification.
- ◆ inform course managers teaching staff, assessors, learners, employers and HEIs of the aims and purpose of the qualification.
- ◆ provide details of the range of learners the qualification is suitable for and progression opportunities.

1.2 Introduction

The newly revised Higher National Certificate and Diploma (HNC and HND) Make-up Artistry: TV, Film and Theatre is the third iteration of the qualification. The original group awards in HNC Fashion Make-up and HND Make-up Artistry being validated in 1994. The revised awards build on the experience and success of the current HNC/HND, re-validated in 2006. The original qualifications were a single-centre development, and the current awards have 16 approved centres.

The revision of the group awards takes into account significant changes in practice, products and professional expectations that have occurred over the past 12 years. The newly developed HNC/HND takes cognisance of the creativity, emerging demands and diversity of make-up artist roles within the TV, film and theatre industries and will provide learners with an industry-recognised qualification and skills to enable them to work effectively within this highly creative and demanding environment.

One of the most significant drivers in the revision of the HNC/HND was the development of a stand-alone HNC Fashion Make-up which was validated in June 2018. This group award was designed to meet the specific needs and aspirations of learners who wish to work in this sector of the wider industry. Before this was available, learners enrolled on the HND Make-up Artistry award but could, after one year of full-time study, achieve with HNC Fashion Make-up award. However, the content was heavily weighted to the more traditional make-up artistry field and did not take account, for example, of the demands of the 'Instagram' age. Changing professional practices and emerging employment opportunities have created a new demand for people trained specifically in fashion make-up and for whom HNC and HND

Make-up Artistry: TV, Film and Theatre is too specific. Consequently, these group awards have been revised to reflect these changes in industry and to ensure that it delivers the specialist skills required of a professional make-up artist.

1.3 Titles of the group awards

The title of the new HNC and HND is Make-up Artistry: TV, Film and Theatre. This more clearly reflects the occupational competencies, contexts and direction of the qualification. The qualification contains units that provide underpinning knowledge and skills required to work as a make-up artist within the TV, film and theatre industries. Learners will be competent in a range of media make-up and hairstyling techniques necessary to create theatrical, character and special effects looks which will enable them to seek employment as a freelance make-up artist, an assistant to a more senior colleague or work as a member of a make-up design team.

1.4 Progression routes

The HNC/HND Make-up Artistry qualification is designed as a progression route for learners who have achieved the National Course (NC) in Make-up Artistry at SCQF level 6 and is suitable for direct entrants with relevant entry qualifications and/or experience, and adult returners with occupationally relevant skills and experience. Learners who successfully complete the qualification may progress to employment within the TV, film or theatre industries or progress to further study in higher education.

Mode of delivery for the HNC/HND Make-up Artistry: TV, Film and Theatre qualification can be full-time or part-time at the discretion of the delivering centre.

Industry and employment

According to analysis by the Office for National Statistics (ONS), the industry is becoming increasingly important to the UK economy. Since 2008, the gross value added by film, video and television companies has increased by 313 per cent. Last year, the industry was worth £7.65 million. A total of 59,089 people were employed by film companies with the largest amount involved in production. The ONS figures also show that since 2014 the economic value of the UK's film, TV and music industries has grown 72.4%, compared with just 8.5% across the European Union.

A major contributor in this boom are Hollywood studios increasingly choosing to shoot big-budget films in the UK, attracted by significant government tax breaks, as well as access to top-class on/off-screen talent and studio facilities. Pinewood, the home of the James Bond franchise is in the process of doubling its size.

The TV production industry is also enjoying, with companies such as Amazon investing in historical drama Outlander and Netflix investing £100m into The Crown, supported by the introduction, in 2013, of a film-style tax credit for shows costing at least £1m an episode. Recently, the French maker of lavish TV period drama Versailles, the most expensive French-language drama ever made, set up a London office to tap the UK market for talent and drama projects.

The Department for Digital, Culture, Media & Sport (DCMS) identified that employment in the creative industries was growing at four times the rate of the wider UK workforce. The DCMS said that employment levels in the sector have grown 5% year on year to almost 2 million people, compared with just 1.2% growth for the wider job market.

The Government continues to back the creative industries sector. Tax relief to support high-end television productions, such as Game of Thrones and The Crown have seen a production boom worth £1.5 billion since the scheme was introduced in 2013. There was also £1 billion of inward investment in the film industry last year as a result of tax relief.

The make-up artist's role in these productions would be to ensure that models, performers and presenters have suitable make-up and hairstyles for appearing in front of cameras or an audience. There are opportunities to work in a variety of settings, ie film, television, theatre, live music and photographic shoots. The work involves creating images and characters through the medium of make-up, hairstyles and prosthetics according to a brief. The make-up artist is required to interpret the make-up requirements and produce both a creative and technically accurate visual representation. This may involve very basic make-up for a TV presenter through to more complex period make-up or special effects.

Findings from research conducted into the Industry resulted in a comprehensive consultation process to review the awards. This included discussion with industry employers, industry creatives and SQA delivering centres. The newly revised HNC/HND awards will enable learners to develop a range of skills showcased via photographic/digital evidence and can provide learners with an advantage when competing for these types of jobs.

Entries and awards for current HNC Fashion Make-up and HND Make-up Artistry

The current HNC Fashion Make-up qualification forms Year 1 of HND Make-up Artistry and has been delivered by centres and accepted by industry for many years. The table below shows the overall entries and awards for HNC Fashion Make-up from 2010–2018.

Extensive consultation has resulted in a revised qualification with a robust mandatory framework and variety of options with newly developed units to enable learners to develop skills which meet the demands of the TV, film and theatre make-up industry.

The mandatory units within the group awards provide standardisation across the education sector and ensure all learners can develop the fundamental skills required of a make-up artist working in the media make-up industry. The range of optional credits allow learners to extend their portfolio of basic competencies and develop specific and specialist skills to enhance their employment opportunities.

5.3 Mapping of Core Skills development opportunities across the qualification

- ◆ embedded within the unit, which means learners who achieve the unit will automatically have their Core Skills profile updated on their certificate, eg Core Skills embedded at SCQF level 5
- ◆ signposted, which means learners will be developing aspects of Core Skills through teaching and learning approaches but not enough to attract automatic certification

5.4 Assessment strategy for the qualification(s)

Overview of assessment methodology for the qualifications

SQA encourages a mix of assessments to meet the evidence requirements of units. Where possible, holistic assessment should be used where appropriate. The HNC in Make-up Artistry: TV, Film and Theatre and HND in Make-up Artistry: TV, Film and Theatre are occupationally-specific and, by nature, highly practical. This means that assessments will focus on product evidence and direct observation of performance evidence. Learners should be encouraged to build portfolios which showcase the development of their skills and knowledge. The individual unit specifications contain full details of evidence requirements and suggested assessment models to allow learners to fulfil the unit requirements. An overview of assessment is contained in the grid below.

6 Guidance on approaches to delivery and assessment

The HNC in Make-up Artistry: TV, Film and Theatre and HND Make-up Artistry: TV, Film and Theatre provide the underpinning knowledge and skills required to work across the diverse sectors of the media industry. Successful learners will be competent in a range of skills which will enable them to seek employment in a variety of roles such as freelance make-up artist, an assistant to a more senior colleague or work as part of a make-up design team.

The design principles for these awards encourage a more holistic approach to assessment.

The new HNC and HND Units place the emphasis on assessing the whole outcome or a combination of outcomes rather than on individual knowledge and skills. Several of the new unit specifications allow the use of 'sampling' of knowledge and/or skills. This will help reduce the assessment load for both candidates and centres.

Where sampling is undertaken, the unit specification will specify the elements of knowledge and/or skills that can be sampled within the evidence requirements. Other important information regarding assessment will be detailed on individual unit specifications.

6.1 Sequencing/integration of units

While sequence of delivery of the units is for individual centres to decide, it should be noted that it is recommended that centres plan their delivery of the award to ensure all mandatory units required for the award of HNC are delivered in Year 1 of the HND qualification. This will ensure that any learner who wishes to exit at this point will have the required number of credits to achieve the HNC. Centres may also wish to give consideration to the assessment balance in each block/semester. In addition, centres are encouraged to integrate assessment where practicable to avoid unnecessary repetition and over-assessment.

Example — Mandatory units suggested delivery over two years

6.2 Recognition of prior learning

SQA recognises that learners gain knowledge and skills acquired through formal, non-formal and informal learning contexts.

In some instances, a full group award may be achieved through the recognition of prior learning. However, it is unlikely that a learner would have the appropriate prior learning and experience to meet all the requirements of a full group award.

The recognition of prior learning may not be used as a method of assessing in the following types of units and assessments:

- ◆ HN Graded Units
- ◆ Course and/or external assessments
- ◆ Other integrative assessment units (which may or not be graded)
- ◆ Certain types of assessment instruments where the standard may be compromised by not using the same assessment method outlined in the unit
- ◆ Where there is an existing requirement for a licence to practice
- ◆ Where there are specific health and safety requirements
- ◆ Where there are regulatory, professional or other statutory requirements
- ◆ Where otherwise specified in an assessment strategy

More information and guidance on the Recognition of Prior Learning (RPL) may be found on our website www.sqa.org.uk.

The following sub-sections outline how existing SQA unit(s) may contribute to this group award. Additionally, they also outline how this group award may be recognised for professional and articulation purposes.

6.2.1 Articulation and/or progression

The primary focus of the HND is to provide industry-specific skills and knowledge to enable learners to gain employment in the professional make-up industry for the TV, Film and Theatre sectors of the industry.

There are no undergraduate degree level courses available currently in Scotland. However, there are several BA degrees available elsewhere in the UK to which holders of the HND could progress. For example — BA (Hons) Make-up for Media and Performance at Arts University Bournemouth; Specialist Hair and Media Make-up BA (Hons) accredited by University College Birmingham.

6.2.2 Professional recognition

There are no professional recognition arrangements for these group awards.

6.2.3 Transitional arrangements

There are no transition arrangements from the old HNC Fashion Make-up (G7YR 15) and HND Make-up Artistry (G8DF 16) to the new HNC/HND Make-up Artistry: TV, Film and Theatre. Whilst the title of the HND Group Award remains the same, these new awards are not a revision of existing provision in terms of content. HNC Fashion Make-up (G7YR 15) was the progression route to the old HND Make-up Artistry which was very much a fashion-based qualification with media appearing in Year 2.

The mandatory units of the new HNC/HND Make-up Artistry: TV, Film and Theatre framework relate directly to the media industry only. A new HNC Fashion Make-up (GP17 15) is available for learners who wish to specialise in Fashion Make-up as opposed to Make-up Artistry.

6.3 Opportunities for e-assessment

Although there is currently no specific material e-assessments available, some of the units may lend themselves to the use of e-portfolios.

6.4 Support materials

Assessment Support Packs (ASPs) have been developed for a number of units in this Award. A list of ASPs is available to view on SQA's secure website.

6.5 Resource requirements

Centres should provide a suitable 'salon/Make-up studio environment' in which learners can perform practical activities that will simulate the real working environment and have access to equipment and products required for the HNC and HND Make-up Artistry; TV, Film and Theatre. Learners should have access to ICT, a wide variety of current publications, on-line resources and relevant journals to support the level of independent research and underpinning knowledge required.

7 General information for centres

Equality and inclusion

The unit specifications making up this group award have been designed to ensure that there are no unnecessary barriers to learning or assessment. The individual needs of learners will be taken into account when planning learning experiences, selecting assessment methods or considering alternative evidence. Further advice can be found on our website www.sqa.org.uk/assessmentarrangements.

Internal and external verification

All instruments of assessment used within this/these qualification(s) should be internally verified, using the appropriate policy within the centre and the guidelines set by SQA.

External verification will be carried out by SQA to ensure that internal assessment is within the national guidelines for these qualifications.

Further information on internal and external verification can be found in SQA's Guide to Assessment (www.sqa.org.uk/GuideToAssessment).

8 Glossary of terms

Embedded Core Skills: is where the assessment evidence for the unit also includes full evidence for complete Core Skill or Core Skill components. A learner successfully completing the unit will be automatically certificated for the Core Skill. (This depends on the unit having been successfully audited and validated for Core Skills certification.)

Finish date: The end of a group award's lapsing period is known as the finish date. After the finish date, the group award will no longer be live and the following applies:

- ◆ candidates may not be entered for the group award
- ◆ the group award will continue to exist only as an archive record on the Awards Processing System (APS)

Graded unit: Graded units assess learners' ability to integrate what they have learned while working towards the units of the group award. Their purpose is to add value to the group award, making it more than the sum of its parts, and to encourage learners to retain and adapt their skills and knowledge.

Lapsing date: When a group award is entered into its lapsing period, the following will apply:

- ◆ the group award will be deleted from the relevant catalogue
- ◆ the group award specification will remain until the qualification reaches its finish date at which point it will be removed from SQA's website and archived
- ◆ no new centres may be approved to offer the group award
- ◆ centres should only enter candidates whom they expect to complete the group award during the defined lapsing period

SQA credit value: The credit value allocated to a unit gives an indication of the contribution the unit makes to an SQA Group Award. An SQA credit value of 1 given to an SQA unit represents approximately 40 hours of programmed learning, teaching and assessment.

SCQF: The Scottish Credit and Qualification Framework (SCQF) provides the national common framework for describing all relevant programmes of learning and qualifications in Scotland. SCQF terminology is used throughout this guide to refer to credits and levels. For further information on the SCQF visit the SCQF website at www.scqf.org.uk.

SCQF credit points: SCQF credit points provide a means of describing and comparing the amount of learning that is required to complete a qualification at a given level of the Framework. One National Unit credit is equivalent to 6 SCQF credit points. One National Unit credit at Advanced Higher and one Higher National Unit credit (irrespective of level) is equivalent to 8 SCQF credit points.

SCQF levels: The level a qualification is assigned within the framework is an indication of how hard it is to achieve. The SCQF covers 12 levels of learning. HNCs and HNDs are available at SCQF levels 7 and 8 respectively. Higher National Units will normally be at levels 6–9 and graded units will be at level 7 and 8. National Qualification Group Awards are available at SCQF levels 2–6 and will normally be made up of National Units which are available from SCQF levels 2–7.

Subject unit: Subject units contain vocational/subject content and are designed to test a specific set of knowledge and skills.

Signposted Core Skills: refers to opportunities to develop Core Skills arise in learning and teaching but are not automatically certificated.

History of changes

It is anticipated that changes will take place during the life of the qualification and this section will record these changes. This document is the latest version and incorporates the changes summarised below. Centres are advised to check SQA's APS Navigator to confirm they are using the up to date qualification structure.

NOTE: Where a unit is revised by another unit:

- ◆ No new centres may be approved to offer the unit which has been revised.
- ◆ Centres should only enter candidates for the unit which has been revised where they are expected to complete the unit before its finish date.

9 General information for learners

This section will help you decide whether this is the qualification for you by explaining what the qualification is about, what you should know or be able to do before you start, what you will need to do during the qualification and opportunities for further learning and employment.

The occupationally-specific Higher National Certificate (HNC) and Higher National Diploma (HND) Make-up Artistry: TV, Film and Theatre is designed to provide you with industry-recognised qualifications and skills to enable you to work effectively within the media make-up industry.

Recommended entry

You would benefit from having attained the skills, knowledge and understanding required by one or more of the following or equivalent qualifications and/or experience:

- ◆ National Certificate in Make-up Artistry at SCQF level 6
- ◆ Direct entrants with occupationally relevant skills and experience
- ◆ SVQ 3 at SCQF level 6 in appropriate related subjects

The qualification contains units that provide you with the underpinning knowledge and skills which will enable you to seek employment in a variety of roles such as freelance Make-up Artist, an assistant to a more senior colleague or work as part of a make-up design team. The HND will allow you to develop specialised skills in specific areas of make-up such as character make-up; postiche techniques; period make-up and hairstyling; life casting and mould making; techniques and specialised make-up effects.

Award requirements

You will have to achieve all 12 credits of the HNC in order to progress and complete the HND. The full HND award requires you to complete a total of 30 credits, a combination of mandatory and optional units which includes two graded units.

For the HNC Graded Unit you will prepare and present a portfolio of work. The work necessary to undertake this assignment will combine knowledge and skills acquired throughout the HNC Make-up Artistry TV, Film and Theatre award. You will identify the requirements of the portfolio and select the elements and components to be included. The assignment requires you to research, plan and perform one full total look image for a live model and photo-shoot and present your evidence and images of your final look as a professional portfolio of work.

At HND level, the graded unit will enable you to develop research and evaluation skills and also to produce project work to a given brief. This unit is designed to prepare you for further study or a career within the make-up artistry industry. You will prepare and present a portfolio of work. The work necessary to undertake this assignment will synthesise knowledge and skills acquired throughout the HND Make-up Artistry: TV, Film and Theatre qualification. You will be asked to produce one total look make-up selected from one of the following:

- ◆ period hair and make-up incorporating postiche
- ◆ 3D specialised make-up effects incorporating prosthetic application
- ◆ character make-up incorporating character enhancements

Employment and progression opportunities

The primary focus of the HND is to provide industry-specific skills and knowledge to enable learners to gain employment in the professional make-up industry within TV, Film and Theatre. There are no undergraduate degree level courses available currently in Scotland. However, there are several BA degrees available elsewhere in the UK to which holders of the HND could progress. For example — BA (Hons) Make-up for Media and Performance at Arts University Bournemouth; Specialist Hair and Media Make-up BA (Hons) accredited by University College Birmingham.

The mandatory units within the awards ensure that you have the opportunity to develop the fundamental skills required to provide specialist make-up services incorporating complimentary hairstyles where appropriate for a variety of professional, commercial and creative industries. The range of optional credits allow you to extend your portfolio of basic competencies and develop specific and specialist skills to enhance your employment opportunities.

The HNC and HND Make-up Artistry: TV, Film and Theatre qualifications can be delivered full-time or part-time at the discretion of the delivering centre.

A variety of assessment methods are used for these qualifications. You will produce a portfolio containing evidence to demonstrate your knowledge and skills. Assessment may be by observation of practical skills; plans and reports, product evidence, eg photographs, drawing, models, etc and practical assignments.

The HNC and HND Make-up Artistry: TV, Film and Theatre will also help you develop aspects of Core Skills. There is no automatic certification of Core Skills or Core Skill components in this graded unit.

Full details of specific evidence requirements are contained in the individual unit specifications which will be available to view on the SQA website.
