Section 1 – Critical Thinking in Philosophy

Question 1

(You should answer all Parts, (a–j), of this question)

- (a) State three differences between deductive and inductive arguments. 3 KU

Consider the argument in the following passage.

How can I go to the party? If I'm to get a good mark in this course I need to finish the project and to complete the project I will need to work on it all weekend. Don't call me, don't come round. Just let me get on with my work.

- (b) Re-write the argument in standard form clearly identifying the premises and conclusion. 2 AE
- (c) What is meant by a “hidden” premise? 1 KU
- (d) State one hidden premise associated with the above argument. 1 AE

- (e) Read the following argument.

If you have a good diet you will grow up to be fit and strong. Since you are clearly fit and strong you must have had a good diet.

- (i) Name the fallacy in the above argument. 1 AE
- (ii) Explain what is wrong with this kind of argument. 1 KU
- (f) Which of the following contains or implies a false dilemma? Give a reason for your answer.
1. William was no longer sure he wanted to break in to the house. “Come on,” said Sarah, who by now had taken charge, “What are you, a man or a mouse?”
 2. “Neither a borrower nor a lender be.” (William Shakespeare, “Hamlet”, Act 1 scene 3.)
 3. The rebel soldiers surrounded the hut where the two friends were hiding. There was now no escape. They heard the captain call out, “You have two choices—surrender or die.”
 4. “I don't know what to do”, the woman said. She was lying, she knew full well what she had to do.
 5. Let's see what's in the picnic basket. Well, you can have an apple or an orange. 1 KU
2 AE

Question 1 (continued)

(g) “All cats like fish so Tiddles likes fish.”

Identify four features of this argument using what you have learned from studying critical thinking.

4 AE

EitherQuestion 5

(You should only answer this question if you have studied Descartes' Rationalism in the Epistemology Unit. If not, go to Question 6.)

At the beginning of Meditation 1 Descartes tells us what strategy he is going to use.

- | | | |
|--|-------------|----|
| (a) Describe the strategy that Descartes says he intends to use. | 4 | KU |
| (b) Describe how Descartes implements this strategy in the rest of Meditation 1. | 10 | KU |
| (c) Evaluate the arguments Descartes uses to arrive at the Cogito . | 16 | AE |
| | (30) | |

OrQuestion 6

(You should only answer this question if you have studied Hume's Empiricism in the Epistemology Unit.)

Even after we have experience of the operations of cause and effect, the conclusions we draw from that experience are not based on reasoning or on any process of the understanding. I shall try to explain and defend this answer.

Hume Enquiries, Section IV: II

- | | | |
|--|-------------|----|
| (a) What conclusions does Hume think we normally draw from the “experience of the operations of cause and effect”? Give examples to support your answer. | 6 | KU |
| (b) Why does Hume believe that these conclusions are “not based on reasoning or on any process of the understanding”? | 8 | KU |
| (c) Evaluate to what extent Hume's position on the reason of animals supports the above claim. | 16 | AE |
| | (30) | |
