Total marks — 20

Choose ONE scenario on page 02 and write your answer clearly, in French, in the space provided in this booklet. You must clearly identify the scenario number you are attempting.

You may use a French dictionary.

Additional space for answers is provided at the end of this booklet.

Use blue or black ink.

There is a separate answer booklet for Reading. You must complete your answers for Reading in the answer booklet for Reading.

Before leaving the examination room you must give this Directed Writing question and answer booklet and your Reading answer booklet to the Invigilator; if you do not, you may lose all the marks for this paper.

Choose one of the following two scenarios.

SCENARIO 1: Employability

You have recently returned from France, where you have spent the summer working.

On your return, you have been asked to write an account in French of your experience for your school college/website.

You must include the following information and you should try to add other relevant details:

- how you travelled and what you did on the journey
- what you had to do in your job
- what you liked/disliked about the job
- how you got on with the people you worked with
- what you did in your free time
- if you would recommend such an experience to others.

You should write approximately 150–180 words.

OR

SCENARIO 2: Culture

Last December you went with a group of students from your school/college to a town in France for a few days. While you were there you went to a Christmas market.

On your return you were asked to write a report, in French, of your visit.

You must include the following information and you should try to add other relevant details:

- where you stayed and what you thought of the accommodation
- what was for sale at the market
- what you ate and drank
- what else you did while you were in France
- what you enjoyed most about your stay
- how you plan to keep in touch with the friends you made.

You should write approximately 150–180 words.

General marking principles for Higher French Directed Writing

Always apply these general principles. Use them in conjunction with the detailed marking instructions, which identify the key features required in candidates' responses.

- (a) Always use positive marking. This means candidates accumulate marks for the demonstration of relevant skills, knowledge and understanding; marks are not deducted for errors or omissions.
- (b) Candidates must address each of the six related bullet points in their writing. The first bullet point contains two pieces of information. The remaining five bullet points each contain one piece of information.
- (c) Marking should be holistic. There may be strengths and weaknesses; focus as far as possible on the strengths, taking account of weaknesses only where they significantly detract from the overall impression. Award marks for the candidate's demonstration of ability in the three main characteristics in writing:
 - (i) content
 - (ii) accuracy
 - (iii) language resource
- (d) Award the highest pegged mark for writing even if there are minor errors, when these do not detract from the overall impression.
- (e) Candidates may display ability across more than one pegged mark descriptor. It is important to recognise the closeness of the pegged mark descriptors and consider carefully the most appropriate overall pegged mark based on the candidate's piece of writing.

The table below gives further guidance to markers in the event of any of the following scenarios:

The candidate only addresses one part of the introductory bullet point.	The maximum mark available is 16.
The candidate does not address two of the bullet points.	The maximum mark available is 12.
The candidate does not address three or more of the bullet points.	Award 0 marks.
Some bullet points fit into one pegged mark category but others are in the next, lower category.	It is important to look carefully at which bullet points are better addressed. If there is a serious decline in the quality of the writing after the initial bullet point, award a lower mark. It is important to consider the balance of the bullet points. Sometimes a candidate writes twice as much about the opening bullet point as for the five remaining bullet points, or even about information not covered by any of the bullet points. In these cases, award the lower mark being considered.
The marker is having great difficulty in deciding whether the writing merits 12 or 8 marks.	It is essential to consider carefully the accuracy of the verbs overall. If more verbs are correct than incorrect, it is likely that the writing merits 12 marks unless there are many other inaccuracies.
From the point of view of content, the candidate's response looks as if it belongs in a top category, but contains some serious grammatical errors as a result of using relatively advanced structures combined with a less than confident knowledge of more basic structures.	It is always important to assess what it is the candidate can do, and thus highlight the positive. In these cases, it is likely that the candidate will be awarded 12 marks.

Detailed marking instructions - Directed Writing

Mark	Content	Accuracy	Language resource
20	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • The content is comprehensive. • The candidate addresses all bullet points fully and may also provide additional relevant information. • The language flows well. 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • The language is accurate throughout. However, where the candidate attempts to go beyond the range of the task, a slightly higher number of inaccuracies need not detract from the overall impression. • The candidate uses a comprehensive range of verbs accurately, and tenses are consistent and accurate. • The candidate demonstrates confident handling of all aspects of grammar and accuracy in spelling, and, where appropriate, word order. The language may contain a number of minor errors, or even one serious error. 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • The candidate uses detailed and complex language throughout. • There is a wide range of adjectives, adverbs and prepositional phrases. • They use a comprehensive range of verbs/verb forms, tenses and constructions.
