Subject Review Report

The development and implementation of the whole suite of National Qualifications has been a huge programme of work dating from 2010 and included many stakeholders. As part of the review and evaluation of this programme, SQA has been engaging with teachers and lecturers on an ongoing basis, as well as gathering intelligence from the awarding and verification process. As a result of this work, SQA has created subject reports to give teachers and lecturers an insight into our planned incremental changes and further areas of investigation for each subject. Each report identifies the key issues for that subject and an associated action plan. Find out more information and what this means for your subject here.

Planned changes to documents in session 2016/17

We have put in place an agreed schedule of planned changes to documents for session 2016/17.

Publication date	Documents
End of April 2016	Course Specifications, Course Assessment Specifications and Unit Specifications
End of May 2016	Course and Unit Support Notes
End of August 2016	Unit assessment support packs
End of September 2016	Coursework assessment tasks, specimen question papers and exemplar question papers

This schedule takes into account any necessary changes that are identified as a result of verification activities, the exam diet and feedback received from centres throughout the current session. It is anticipated that additional, critical changes may be identified for some subjects following the grade boundary meetings which take place during the summer months. Where such changes are identified, we will make further updates and publish these documents by the following dates:

Publication date	Documents
End of August 2016	Course Specifications, Course Assessment Specifications and Unit Specifications (further critical changes only)
End of September 2016	Course and Unit Support Notes (further critical changes only)

Changes to documents in April and May 2016

Courses in Philosophy have been revised during session 2015/16 for implementation in session 2016/17. The primary changes are clarification of content and reduction in the volume of internal assessment.

Please ensure that you read the following updated documents in preparation for session 2016/17. To help you quickly and easily identify what has been updated, for every updated mandatory document we have also published a comparison document that clearly illustrates the changes. These are published alongside the updated documents on our subject pages at www.sqa.org.uk/nqsubjects

The Notification of Changes spreadsheets have also been updated to reflect the latest changes to documents. You can view these spreadsheets at www.sqa.org.uk/nqsubjectchanges

National 5 documents

Course Assessment Specification

Changes have been made across the three Unit sections to clarify the terminology and organise it into an order which provides a practical flow for delivery.

The volume of content has been reduced for the Arguments and Action Unit, and to better align this with the demands of SCQF level 5 and for progression to Higher.

Unit Specifications

Changes have been made to the content of the Unit Specifications across the three Unit specifications to remove duplication and allow better preparation for Course assessment.

Course Specification

The Course Specification was updated in line with the revised Course Assessment Specification and Unit Specifications.

Higher documents

Course Assessment Specification

Changes have been made across the three Unit sections to clarify the terminology and organise it into an order which provides a practical flow for delivery.

There was some ambiguity relating to the required content within the Units, and what sections of Texts could be assessed, therefore these have been clearly specified within the Knowledge and Doubt Unit.

Unit Specifications

Changes have been made to the content of the Unit Specifications across the three Units to remove duplication and allow better preparation for Course assessment.

Course Specification

The Course Specification was updated in line with revised Course Assessment Specification and Unit Specifications.

Further information and guidance

Change to marking criteria in the Higher Philosophy Question Paper

The marking criteria for extended response questions in the Higher Philosophy question paper have been changed to a holistic approach. This has been exemplified at the previous Understanding Standards Course event for Higher Philosophy, and revised Marking Instructions for Question 9 (Kant) in the 2015 past paper have been published on our website. The relevant questions and Marking Instructions in the Higher Philosophy specimen question paper and exemplar question paper have been amended to reflect this. These documents are both available from the 'Specimen Question Paper and Marking Instructions' section on the SQA website.

Understanding Standards programme

Our Understanding Standards programme will continue in session 2016/17 when we will publish more candidate evidence and commentary materials. We will also deliver a series of Understanding Standards events on Course assessment and continue to deliver subject-specific continuing professional development (CPD) webinars online, subject to request. In addition to this, throughout the session we will gather and publish assessment case studies to share good practice in assessment.

To access candidate evidence and commentaries for externally assessed Components of Course assessment, visit www.understandingstandards.org.uk

Candidate evidence and commentaries for Units and internally assessed Components of Course assessment are available from our secure website.

For more information on Understanding Standards, visit www.sqa.org.uk/understandingstandards

SQA Academy course

A course has been created on SQA Academy to provide further support and useful materials for teachers and lecturers of Philosophy.

The course can be accessed here.

Verification Key Messages

Key messages from round 1 of verification in session 2015/16 are available from the relevant subject pages of our website at www.sqa.org.uk/nqsubjects. You can access them from the 'Verification and Course Reports' heading in the Assessment Support section.

Key messages from round 2 will be published over the summer.

Looking ahead to session 2016/17

Continuing Professional Development (CPD) training

We are still offering free CPD training for teachers and lecturers, where particular areas of concern are identified which are not addressed by the Understanding Standards programme. This CPD support is subject-specific and is tailored to cover one or more qualification levels according to requirements.

Where there is sufficient demand, we may deliver CPD training through online webinars and, where appropriate, publish the recordings and related materials on our website after the webinar has taken place.
