

Migraine Awareness Week 2012

2 - 8 September

Thank you very much for your interest in Migraine Awareness Week 2012. Whether you personally suffer from migraine or not, we appreciate your assistance to help raise awareness and hope you can display the enclosed materials prominently.

Even though migraine is the most common neurological condition, more prevalent than diabetes, epilepsy and asthma combined, there is a real need for greater awareness of migraine and the impact it has on so many lives. Over eight million people have migraine in the United Kingdom and one third of sufferers will experience significant disability as a result of their migraines at some stage of their lives.

The Migraine Trust is the health and medical research charity for migraine in the United Kingdom. To learn more about us or find evidence based information about the condition and its management, please visit our website at www.migrainetrust.org. If you have questions about migraine you can contact our Information & Enquiry Service on 020 7631 6975 or info@migrainetrust.org.

Once again thank you for helping us raise awareness.

Yours sincerely,

Christine Davies
