SECTION 1 — ARGUMENTS IN ACTION — 20 marks

Attempt ALL questions.

Read the following passage.

I find from experiments that bumblebees are almost essential for the fertilisation of the wild pansy and the red clover, for other bees do not visit these flowers.

The number of bumblebees in any district depends a great deal on the number of field-mice, which destroy their nests; and Colonel Newman, who has spent a long time studying the habits of bumblebees, believes that “more than two-thirds of them are thus destroyed all over England.” Now the number of mice is largely dependent, as everyone knows, on the number of cats; and Colonel Newman says, “Near villages and small towns I have found the nests of bumblebees more numerous than elsewhere, which I put down to the number of cats that destroy the mice.” Consequently, it is quite credible that a lot of cats in a district might determine, because of their impact on the number of mice and so also on the number of bees, the frequency of certain flowers in that district!

1. (a) Some philosophy students were asked to present the above passage as an argument diagram. Three of their diagrams are shown below. In each case the numbers represent statements in the passage.

One	Two	Three
1 ↓ 2 ↓ 3 ↓ 4	$1 + 2 + 3$ ↓ 4	1 2 3 ↘ ↓ ↙ 4

Which diagram most accurately reflects the structure of the argument in the passage?

Your answer should

- include a list showing which statements the four numbers represent;
- include the reasons for your choice and the reasons you rejected the other two diagrams.

4

- (b) This diagram could be extended by adding another statement from the source. Copy the diagram and add one such statement to the diagram.

2

- (c) Explain how an appeal to authority might strengthen or weaken an argument. In your answer you should refer to the above source.
