Coursework and/ or Question Paper revisions

Question Paper (90 marks), Project-dissertation (50 marks).
Mapping exercise shows that the unit assessments are already replicated in the current course assessment and the Question Paper is already at the maximum length of three hours. Therefore, there will be no change.

Equality & inclusion issues

No changes have been made to the aims, rationale or content of the course. This means that the original equality review carried out and attached remains valid and fit for purpose. It should be noted however, that the Units, which were a feature of the original ERF, have now been removed.

Actions that will mitigate any adverse impact outlined above

Summary of Conclusion and recommendation

As the means of producing evidence to demonstrate a candidate having met the assessment standards is not defined, candidates may make use of a range of evidence-generating techniques. Communication of viewpoints can be carried out using a variety of means, written, oral or using ICT. Because of this flexibility and because learners can be supported by the appropriate use of assessment arrangements, it is envisaged that most barriers can be mitigated for disabled learners.
