UNIT British Isles Tourist Destinations with a Scottish Context (SCQF level 5)

The brief should ensure that the candidate provides the following for each destination in their tour:

♦ locates all destinations chosen on a map of the British Isles and physical features mentioned

Candidates must ensure that the tour covers six tourist destinations. Appendix 1 lists these destinations. The tour cannot be focused entirely on one country; a minimum of two different countries must be included.

The final completion of the tour information and the justification for the selected destinations should be produced under supervised conditions and should take no more than 1 hour and 30 minutes to complete. This may be over one assessment occasion or on more than one occasion. Candidates may have access to notes which they have collected during their research in response to the given brief.

The Assessment Support Pack for this Unit provides sample assessment material. Centres wishing to develop their own assessments should refer to the Assessment Support Pack to ensure a comparable standard.

While the exact time allocated to this Unit is at the discretion of the centre, the notional design length is 40 hours.

GUIDANCE ON THE CONTENT AND CONTEXT FOR THIS UNIT

This Unit should be delivered within the context of current information and reference should be made to current industry publications.

This Unit is an optional Unit within the National Qualifications Group Award (NQGA) for Travel and Tourism at SCQF level 5 and 6 and is also an optional Unit in the Scottish Studies Award at SCQF level 5.

The Unit is designed to develop the candidate’s working knowledge of a selection of tourist destinations in the British Isles including Scottish tourist destinations. The Unit will also develop the candidate’s knowledge of tourist destinations suitable for different client requirements.

Appendix 1 details the full content and context of this Unit.

This Unit builds on the knowledge and skills which can be acquired by candidates who study Holiday Destinations at Intermediate 1 level and provides a more in depth and specialised focus than the geographical approach in the Intermediate 2 Tourist Destinations Unit.

GUIDANCE ON LEARNING AND TEACHING APPROACHES FOR THIS UNIT

Both Outcomes could be taught simultaneously.

A candidate centred, resource-based learning approach is recommended, supported by teacher/lecturer explanation of key points, concepts and suggested strategies. Maximum use should be made of authentic materials and access to the industry through specialists, placements and site visits as appropriate and feasible within the limits of time and other resources.

The use of visual materials is recommended eg DVD/video, transparencies and/or slides produced using software packages, maps, atlases and brochures are essential given the range of information and destinations to be covered. Many candidate-centred activities can be designed around the task of identifying destinations and their physical features. Through a task orientated approach, skills in selecting and using correct information will be developed, in addition to knowledge of destinations themselves. Individual candidate activities could focus on selected case studies using brochures, travel guides, published maps and the internet. Board games, quizzes and role play may also be used effectively.

OPPORTUNITIES FOR CORE SKILL DEVELOPMENT

Throughout the learning, teaching and assessment of this Unit candidates may have the opportunity to develop Communication skills. When candidates are producing the evidence for the Unit the material that they produce in response to the brief could be delivered either in a Written Communication (including graphical information, climate information, temperatures etc) format or presented orally. In compiling the evidence candidates will need to access a range of materials either on the internet or in brochures, books, maps, transport time tables etc this may allow the opportunity to develop IT and Numeracy skills.

GUIDANCE ON APPROACHES TO ASSESSMENT FOR THIS UNIT

It is recommended that an integrated approach to assessment is taken as follows:

The candidate could be provided with a case study featuring a tour of the British Isles which provides client profile information and an extensive list of requirements which will aid the candidate in selecting an appropriate range of destinations (at least six) in relation to clients’ preferences. The case study will require candidates to locate and describe the locations of the destinations chosen for the tour. Candidates will also be expected to provided information on access to the chosen destinations, attractions and amenities and provide accurate tourist information.

It should be noted that the tour assessment method is not meant to be testing the candidate’s tour planning skills but uses the tour as a practical and more interactive approach to assessment as well as being more vocationally relevant whilst still testing the candidate’s knowledge of the British Isles and the candidates ability to provide relevant tourist information for a particular client type.

Opportunities for e-assessment

E-assessment may be appropriate for some assessments in this Unit. By e-assessment we mean assessment which is supported by Information and Communication Technology (ICT), such as e-testing or the use of e-portfolios or social software. Centres which wish to use e-assessment must ensure that the national standard is applied to all learner evidence and that conditions of assessment as specified in the Evidence Requirements are met, regardless of the mode of gathering evidence. The most up-to-date guidance on the use of e-assessment to support SQA’s qualifications is available at www.sqa.org.uk/e-assessment

Equality and inclusion

This Unit specification has been designed to ensure that there are no unnecessary barriers to learning or assessment. The individual needs of learners should be taken into account when planning learning experiences, selecting assessment methods or considering alternative evidence. Further advice can be found on our website www.sqa.org.uk/assessmentarrangements
