Policy Aims

Name of Policy or practice	Transgender Equality Policy – Transitioning at Work
New Policy or Revision	New
Name of Policy Owner	People Reward & Equalities Manager
Date Policy Owner Confirmed Completion	Draft

What is the rationale for this policy or practice?

This policy and guidance sets out SQA’s responsibilities as an employer of trans people, including those with non-binary identities.

SQA recognises that people perform best when they are able to be their authentic selves. We are committed to promoting equality and diversity among our workforce. We support a culture that actively values difference, recognising that trans individuals and those with non-binary identities can bring valuable insights and enhance the way we work.

SQA aims to be an inclusive organisation, committed to providing equal opportunities throughout employment including in the recruitment, training, development and career progression of all colleagues.

Important Note:

As part of this Equality Impact Assessment, we identified potential equality risks within the overall design of the policy in that it could be regarded as somewhat confusing or even inappropriate to employees.

The actual title of the policy Transgender Equality Policy – Transitioning at Work suggests to us that this policy is wholly aimed at supporting people who are Transsexual and have the Protected Characteristic of Gender Reassignment. (Please see page 25 of this assessment for the legal and governmental definition in which, incidentally, the term Transsexual is used.)

Upon further analysis, it transpires that the policy actually includes much broader Gender Identity references e.g. Non Binary, Gender Fluid, Gender Queer etc and is therefore also intended to be used by people who identify with more than one gender or indeed no gender.

Whilst we acknowledge that Stonewall suggests these terms are all capable of being placed under a broad umbrella definition of ‘Trans’, we respectfully advise that this concept is, at the very least, legally speaking, somewhat erroneous.

Whether an employee who, for example, identifies as Non Binary would consider it appropriate or inclusive to be subjected to a policy entitled Transition at Work policy is a question we consider worthy of further discussion / consultation in SQA.

We advise that the creation of two separate policies, Gender Identity and Transitioning at Work could potentially resolve this issue.

What evidence is there to support the implementation or development of this policy or practice?

Locally in SQA, our internal Rainbow Network have championed the development of this policy for some time.

Nationally, over 400 applications UK wide have been submitted to the Gender Recognition Panel during the last two fiscal years (2019-2020 and 2020-2021).

While it was not possible to find a precise estimate of the number of trans people in Scotland, the most commonly used figure is 0.5% of the population, which would be just under 24,000 adults.

Hate crimes against transgender people rose 87% in the past year, according to the latest figures. A report from the Crown Office said there were 84 charges aggravated by transphobia in 2021-22, compared with 45 the previous year.

The evidence that LGBT+ people have disproportionately worse health outcomes and experiences of healthcare is both compelling and consistent. NHS England » LGBT health. The 2017 National LGBT survey, with over 108,000 responses, described a situation where LGBT+ communities face discrimination, felt their specific needs were not being met, had poorer experience and had major concerns about accessing healthcare that should be a right for all.

The Scottish Household Survey (SHS) indicates that in 2019 that 0.04% of participants identified as non-binary amounting to 8 people across 20,000. A working paper by the Scottish Government concluded that it was not possible to do further analysis with such a small number; and it was also likely that this figure for non-binary people was not representative. Non-Binary Working Group minutes: September 2021. Minutes from the meeting of the Scottish Government's Non-Binary Working Group, held on 16 September 2021. Non-Binary Working Group minutes: September 2021 - gov.scot \(www.gov.scot\)

From the ONS data on Sexual Identity by Region and Country for 2020, 0.6% of people in Scotland identified as Other, which may indicate they are non-binary or gender fluid.

What are the aims of this policy or practice?

The purpose of this policy and procedure is to support the inclusion of trans and non-binary people within our organisation. It will also provide clarity for any SQA colleagues who may be thinking about or who are planning to go through a transition process at work or update their gender identity. This policy will also provide advice and guidance to managers or others who need to ensure that colleagues receive the necessary support and guidance in the workplace while going through the transition process.

Our aims are to:

- Recognise the needs of each colleague in relation to their gender identity will differ.
- Recognise that transitioning is a personal process which must be led by the colleague.
- Provide a supportive environment for individuals who wish their trans or gender non-conforming status to be known. We are committed to acting in a sensitive manner and will discuss with any such individuals confidentially what support is needed to ensure their comfort, safety, and inclusion at work.
- Respect the privacy of individuals who wish their trans or non-binary status to remain confidential.
- Ensure that colleagues who intend to undergo, are undergoing, or have undergone gender reassignment are treated with fairness and support in their recruitment and development.
- Ensure trans colleagues can work in an environment without fear of prejudice, discrimination or harassment.

The policy itself is divided into two discrete sections:

1: Part A - Policy detail

2: Part B – Procedures for SQA managers / employees to follow

What are the aims of this policy or practice? (continued)

The following SQA policies are also related to the Transgender Equality Policy – Transitioning at Work:

- a. Attendance Management
- b. Code of Conduct
- c. Dignity at Work
- d. Disciplinary
- e. Equality, Diversity and Inclusion
- f. Grievance
- g. Mental Health, Stress and Wellbeing
- h. Staff Leave

How is the content of these aims relevant to equality groups?

SQA acknowledges that people who share / do not share, certain Protected Characteristics may, on balance:

- Be more likely to experience bullying, harassment or victimisation
- Be less likely to be selected for promotion or development opportunities
- Experience compound discrimination or intersectionality I.e., where a person has one or more characteristics and may be subject to consequentially greater levels of disadvantage, for example, people who are transgender and of an ethnic minority
- Be more likely to experience disproportionately worse health outcomes and experiences of healthcare

The development, implementation and analysis of the effects of this policy are therefore relevant to a small group of people from some Equality groups as they may risk experiencing disproportionate impacts or outcomes.

It is important that SQA identifies and takes action to mitigate or remove any disadvantage identified which is the overall purpose of this Equality Impact Assessment.

Evidence, Consultation and Engagement

What stakeholders have you engaged with in the development of this policy or practice?

This policy will be developed in consultation with SQA's recognised Trades Unions, Unite and Unison, who represent all staff throughout the organisation.

In addition, as this is an internal policy, SQA will only consult with internal groups. These include:

- ACE (Appreciate Culture and Ethnicity) Network.
- SQA Disability Network.
- SQA Rainbow Network.
- Women's Network.

Evidence of Stakeholder Engagement:

Trade Union Consultation Review Group (PRG):

Members of SQA Human Resources department and trade union representatives from Unite the Union and Unison meet weekly in SQA via the PRG. This group has been meeting weekly in SQA since July 2020. SQA's trade union representatives are also given statutory time off to attend relevant training, meetings and other information gathering activities as supported in our union framework agreement.

Evidence of all meeting minutes, actions and consultation undertaken with the PRG group (including Equality considerations in respect of all policies, activities and functions) is detailed on a dedicated SQA shared resources site.

Staff Network Consultations:

SQA's People Reward & Equalities team have worked closely with SQA's Rainbow Network from November 2021 to develop the draft Transgender Equality Policy – Transitioning at Work. They also sought advice and guidance from Stonewall in relation to the policy's development.

In June 2021, we formed a dedicated Equality Impact Assessment Project Group (EIAPG) with the aim of reviewing, assessing and providing feedback from staff on all SQA HR policies from Equality perspectives

The EIAPG group consists of representatives from each of SQA staff networks listed on the previous page of this document.

Evidence, feedback and actions from all EIAPG staff network consultations are recorded on a dedicated SQA Microsoft Teams page which was specifically created with the aim of listing potential equality risks that exist in HR policies / activities, sharing resources, recording feedback and scheduling future consultation meetings.

What evidence about equality groups do you have to support this assessment?

 The table on the right shows Sexual Orientation in SQA; Heterosexual (70.60%), Lesbian, gay, bisexual and other (4.64%), Other (25.76%).

Our workforce has almost double the representation of the overall Scottish population self-identifying as lesbian, gay, bisexual or in another way. The proportion of colleagues identifying as heterosexual is below national indicators and the proportion of our workforce whose sexual orientation is unknown is ten times the national indicator. This is due to 8.01% of colleagues who have declared they would prefer not to share their sexual orientation and 16.65% of colleagues who have not provided sexual orientation information.

Impact and Opportunities for Action

The impact that a policy or practice has on an equality group may be different and this requires to be recorded. The impact may not always be negative. Actions are taken to address any differential impact, and include actions to mitigate against any negative impact, to advance equality and to foster good relations between groups.

Each section contains questions for each equality group. These questions are here to support consideration; however, you can provide further detail. Focus initially on the equality groups that would be affected by this policy. If you do not consider that certain equality groups would be affected by this policy, you may leave these sections.

Gender Re-assignment (Gender identity and transgender)	Eliminate unlawful discrimination, harassment and victimisation and other conduct that is prohibited by the Equality Act 2010 Risks of Discrimination: Legal Definition of Gender Reassignment source: https://www.legislation.gov.uk/ukpga/2010/15/section/7 Gender reassignment <ol style="list-style-type: none"> <li>(1) A person has the protected characteristic of gender reassignment if the person is proposing to undergo, is undergoing or has undergone a process (or part of a process) for the purpose of reassigning the person’s sex by changing physiological or other attributes of sex.</li> <li>(2) A reference to a transsexual person is a reference to a person who has the protected characteristic of gender reassignment.</li> <li>(3) In relation to the protected characteristic of gender reassignment –             <ol style="list-style-type: none"> <li>(a) A reference to a person who has a particular protected characteristic is a reference to a transsexual person;</li> <li>(b) A reference to persons who share a protected characteristic is a reference to transsexual persons.</li> </ol> </li> </ol> It is important to note how Gender Reassignment differs legally from other forms of Gender Identity (e.g. nonbinary, gender fluid etc) in that the former is currently a Protected Characteristic under The Equality Act 2010 whereas the latter is not. This policy does define (very well) the expectations and commitments to employees in respect of gender re-assignment and transitioning at work in SQA. We therefore conclude both the contents and practical implementation of this policy should have a positive impact on all SQA employees who are transsexual and are undergoing, proposing to undergo or who have undergone Gender Reassignment. Positive equality related impact is therefore recorded in this area.

Advance equality of opportunity

Additional Evidence:

The policy states:

We are an inclusive organisation and stand against discrimination in all its forms. There is no place for any form of bullying, harassment or hate within SQA. All individuals who engage with our organisation deserve to be treated with dignity and respect — including trans and non-binary people. Harassment, bullying, victimisation and discrimination on the basis of a person's gender identity, gender expression or gender history will never be acceptable or tolerated by us and such conduct will always be addressed, and in some circumstances may constitute criminal behaviour under hate crime legislation. We believe such behaviour is not only unacceptable, but it is also contrary to our values. We expect all colleagues to consistently treat each other with dignity, respect and compassion.

We will take seriously complaints of bullying, harassment, victimisation and discrimination by colleagues, visitors, the public, customers, suppliers and any others in the course of the organisation's work activities. Further information on dealing with bullying and harassment is available within the Dignity at Work Policy."

The policy also states that SQA aims to:

Ensure that colleagues who intend to undergo, are undergoing, or have undergone gender reassignment are treated with fairness and equality in their recruitment and career development and progression."

All SQA employees are entitled to use, access, and of course, be subjected to the Transgender Equality Policy – Transitioning at Work, and there is no evidence to indicate that this policy could affect employees differently or less favourably, on the grounds of their gender identity.

Additional Evidence:

SQA currently does not have a separate Gender Identity policy providing background information to SQA managers and employees in respect of:

- People who identify as the Gender they were assigned at birth. (Cisgender)
- People who identify with Gender that is different to that assigned at birth. (Transgender)
- People who identify with multiple Genders. (e.g. Non Binary and Gender Fluid.)

(Note this list is illustrative and is not intended to be definitive.)

Whilst, as previously stated, with the exception of Gender Reassignment, there is currently no legal obligation placed on SQA to provide Equality of Opportunity to people who identify as different Genders, it is a very relevant modern consideration – particularly in academic environments such as schools, colleges and universities. (Once again, highly relevant to SQA.)
