Foreword

SQA has an important role to play in creating a sustainable future for Gaelic in a multilingual Scotland and I am delighted to set out our continuing commitment to meeting the objectives of the National Plan for Gaelic and the Gaelic Language (Scotland) Act 2005 in this — the third edition of our Gaelic Language Plan, covering the next three years.

Bòrd na Gàidhlig works closely with public bodies towards incorporating Gaelic in the exercise of their functions to mainstream the language as part of the day-to-day fabric of modern Scottish life.

SQA continues to raise the status and profile of the Gaelic language and create practical opportunities for its use. We are proud to provide a range of Gaelic qualifications suitable for everyone from learners to fluent speakers, that not only develop language skills, but also incorporate musical, cultural, historical and vocational elements. Working in partnership with other educational bodies has been, and remains to be, a fundamental element of our Gaelic Language Plan.

We will also continue to offer our Gaelic services to our employees and the public. This will ensure that where Gaelic services are made available by us, Gaelic users will be made aware of their existence, and be actively encouraged to use them.

Scottish Ministers have announced that SQA is to be replaced by a new curriculum and assessment body as part of a review of national education bodies. We will play a full and positive role in the review process that is underway, reflecting the skills, knowledge and experience of colleagues across SQA. How the review impacts our delivery of this plan will be closely monitored.

Introduction

Description of SQA

SQA is Scotland's national awarding and accreditation body. Our purpose is to help people fulfil their full potential while maintaining standards across Scottish education. We are an executive non-departmental public body that reports to Scottish Ministers and the Scottish Parliament. Established under the Education (Scotland) Act 1996, SQA is sponsored by the Scottish Government's Learning Directorate. Our remit and function are outlined in the amended Scottish Qualifications Act 2002.

SQA has a workforce of almost 1,000 spread between offices in Glasgow and Dalkeith — but with many colleagues working from home at present. SQA engages with learners, schools, colleges and training providers across Scotland, the rest of the UK and internationally, to develop, maintain, and improve a framework of qualifications. We also set and maintain standards for many other awarding bodies and accredited qualifications.

Awarding

As an awarding body, SQA develops, maintains and improves a framework of qualifications gained at Scotland's schools, colleges, employers and training providers. These include:

- ◆ National Qualifications, studied at schools and colleges, such as National 1–5, Highers, and Advanced Highers
- ◆ Higher National Qualifications, often studied at colleges, which can serve as a bridge to further study at university
- ◆ a range of vocational qualifications, developed with industry partners, and responding to perceived skills needs

Accrediting

As an accrediting body, SQA sets and maintains standards for many other awarding bodies, and for accredited qualifications such as Scottish Vocational Qualifications. SVQs provide evidence that learners can do their jobs well and can be studied in colleges or in the workplace.

SQA Accreditation provides extensive support and quality assurance that offers a badge of quality for awarding bodies and their customers. Colleagues in SQA Accreditation work with standards setting organisations and other stakeholders in the development of National Occupational Standards, qualification structures and associated products, and SCQF credit rating of qualifications.

SQA also plays an important role in supporting Foundation Apprenticeships and the wider Developing the Young Workforce policy: our qualifications form part of the majority of Scotland's Modern Apprenticeships. Our accreditation function also makes an important contribution in this area.

SQA can't develop and deliver qualifications on its own; we work with experienced teachers, lecturers and other subject experts. In a typical year, SQA employs around 15,000 such appointees. Appointees work on everything from devising qualifications, creating assessments and marking, to quality assurance visits and exam invigilation. SQA's appointees are vital for ensuring that our education and training systems work effectively. In contrast, the COVID-19 pandemic and cancellation of the 2020 National Qualifications examinations diet meant that we called on the services of only a small number of senior appointees in a review capacity.

Objectives and strategies

In 2019–20, we carried out an internal consultation and development exercise to assess and update the ways we express, implement and monitor our strategy as an organisation. As a result of this process, we now have five outcomes, which we have published in our Corporate Plan for 2020–23:

- ◆ We provide a credible qualifications system
- ◆ We are flexible in meeting customer needs
- ◆ We have a sustainable business operating model that is appropriately resourced in order to deliver our remit now and in the future
- ◆ We are a thriving organisation, with quality jobs and a fair work environment for all our people
- ◆ We are trusted, respected and valued by our customers, stakeholders and partners

These outcomes help us in our aim of maintaining, developing and continually improving our qualifications, accreditation work, and other activities. We seek to do this through continually engaging with those who use and are affected by our products and services. We are open to feedback and are very willing to respond to it.

SQA's strategic objectives are embodied in our outcomes. These set out our aims and aspirations as an organisation, and make a vital contribution to the wellbeing, progress and development of Scottish society as a whole, and of the individuals who form part of it. They cover both our accreditation and awarding functions and align with and support the Scottish Government's National Performance Framework (NPF).

Organisation structure

SQA's activities are directed by an Executive Management Team (EMT) consisting of the chief executive and the directors responsible for the major functions of the organisation. These functions include awarding our own qualifications and accrediting and regulating the activity of other awarding bodies. The functions are overseen by our Accreditation Committee — a statutory committee established by the Education (Scotland) Act 1996.

SQA's policy, and in particular our Corporate Plan, is developed by the EMT, with strategic direction provided by the non-executive members of the Board of Management, and in consultation with the Scottish Government. The EMT oversee the implementation of the plan and provides regular progress reports for review by the Board. The role of our Advisory Council, whose members are appointed by the Scottish Government, is to represent our various stakeholders and consider and advise SQA on their needs and views in relation to our qualifications and awards.

The organisation's functions are split across eight directorates:

- ◆ Business Development
- ◆ Business Systems
- ◆ Communications
- ◆ Finance and Corporate Services
- ◆ Operations
- ◆ Qualifications
- ◆ People
- ◆ Policy, Analysis and Standards

In June 2021, the Organisation for Economic Co-operation and Development published its report on Curriculum for Excellence. Following the publication of the review, Scottish Ministers announced that SQA would be replaced and a new specialist agency would be created which would have responsibility for both curriculum and assessment. This is an opportunity for significant change that will meet the future needs of our learners, our society and our economy, and which has the support of us all.

As evidenced in SQA's previous Gaelic Language Plans, SQA has been able to extend its existing and long-held provision for the language and will continue to do so. The impact of the review and replacement of SQA on this, our third plan, will be monitored as the findings of the review take shape.

Gaelic within SQA

To help secure a sustainable future for Gaelic in a multilingual Scotland, SQA is committed to the objectives set out in the National Plan for Gaelic and the Gaelic Language \(Scotland\) Act 2005, which recognises Gaelic as an official language of Scotland.

In our work, SQA seeks to:

- ◆ encourage the increased use of Gaelic
- ◆ promote the acquisition and learning of Gaelic
- ◆ promote a positive image of Gaelic

We offer opportunities for colleagues to learn Gaelic by providing links to relevant resources, events and news on our Scotland's Languages intranet page. Staff can also engage with other speakers and learners on our SQA Gaelic Hub on Yammer.

Although Gaelic-medium education was officially established in 1985, the Gaelic language has been used as a medium of communication, teaching and learning for hundreds of years. SQA and our predecessor bodies have a long-standing support for the Gaelic language.

Key developments include:

- 1904 Including Gaelic as a subject for the Secondary Leaving Certificate
- 1905 Introducing Lower and Higher Certificate examinations in Gaelic (intended for native speakers)
- 1962 The Scottish Certificate of Education Examination Board (SCEEB) established the Gaelic (Learners) course, enabling differentiation between learner and native speaker examinations for Gaelic in the Ordinary Grade
- 1968 SEB introduced the Higher grade examination for Gaelic (Learners)
- 1981 Scottish Certificate of Education Examination Board published Gaelic Orthographic Conventions (GOC). The guidelines aimed to give an authoritative set of writing conventions for teachers and candidates, to remove the inconsistencies in written Gaelic noted by SCEEB examiners
- 1983 First official use of Gaelic in the teaching of secondary subjects following Comhairle nan Eilean's pilot project as an extension to its primary bilingual programme. Pupils in Lionel and Shawbost secondary departments in Lewis began learning social subjects through the medium of Gaelic
- 1985 Gaelic-medium units set up in schools in Inverness and Glasgow, fuelling demand for provision in other areas
- 1988 First mainland Gaelic-medium unit opened at Hillpark Secondary, Glasgow
- 1992 Provision for Gàidhlig and Gaelic-medium subjects established in Millburn Academy, Inverness and Portree High, Skye, thus ensuring continuity of Gaelic-medium education for pupils of two of the largest primary units
- 1993 SQA began to offer Standard Grades in Matamataig (Mathematics), Eachdraidh (History), Nuadh-eòlas (Modern Studies) and Cruinn-eòlas (Geography)
- 2009 SQA launched Modern Languages for Work Purposes — a suite of units at Access 3, Intermediate 1, Intermediate 2 and Higher level. Generic specification covering 10 languages including Gaelic (Learners)
- 2011 New models of entry and certification developed for SQA Gaelic-medium courses to ensure that course titles and all units attained through the medium of Gaelic are reported in Gaelic on candidates' Scottish Qualifications Certificates. There are also recognition statements reported on the detailed record of attainment to indicate that the course was assessed and attained through the medium of Gaelic
- 2011 Launch of National Units developed by SQA in partnership with Colleges Scotland to improve provision for adult learners of Gaelic. The units cover the four key language skills: speaking, listening, reading and writing

- 2011 Launch of NPA Contemporary Gaelic Language Songwriting and Production. This award covers issues which have shaped modern Gaelic society, language and culture, and includes an introduction to the roots of Gaelic music making, with a focus on the transition to contemporary Gaelic music and its genres

- 2012 Launch of NC Celtic Studies. This National Certificate provides an understanding of developments in the creative, cultural and heritage industries, Gaelic language, the politics of the Celtic nations, and traditional music and dance

- 2013 SQA launched Modern Languages for Life and Work Award at SCQF levels 3 and 4, developed to meet the aims of Curriculum for Excellence, and available across 10 languages including Gaelic (Learners)

- 2018 Development of SQA's PDA in Gaelic Translation. A Professional Development Award intended for those already working as translators who wish to further develop their knowledge, skills and practice. It is also suitable for those with a high level of language competence in both Gaelic and English who wish to undertake the process necessary to become a competent translator working to professional standards

- 2020 In response to feedback from centres, the Modern Languages for Life and Work Award was made available at SCQF levels 5 and 6 along with its component freestanding units

SQA recognises that Gaelic is an integral part of Scotland's heritage, national identity and cultural life, and that education plays a vital role in minority language revitalisation. We are committed to working in collaboration with stakeholders and partners across Scotland to ensure the Gaelic language thrives in our linguistically diverse society and to ensure it has a sustainable future. We aim to promote the many benefits it can offer our candidates and our colleagues, be it the educational, economic or cultural benefits.

SQA promotes Gaelic language and culture through our ongoing support of events such as the Royal National Mòd and the National Gaelic Schools debate. We support and contribute to the Faster Rate of Progress government initiative for Gaelic and work closely with a range of stakeholders such as Education Scotland, Stòrlann, Gaelic Local Authorities Network (GLAN), Scottish Government, Comann nan Pàrant and GTCS.

It is important that candidates who have experienced Gaelic-medium education throughout their broad general education in primary and secondary can have full access to Gaelic-medium education in their senior phase to consolidate and further develop their Gaelic language skills. SQA fully supports the development of a coherent national strategy to ensure that this happens.

Following discussions as part of the Faster Rate of Progress meeting in September 2021, a working group was established with the aim of expanding the current subject offer in senior phase. Early discussions include exploring alternatives to National Courses, practical alternative pathways — including Modern Languages for Life and Work Awards, and links to apprenticeship programmes. We recognise the importance of pursuing a more mixed economy for Gaelic-medium education (GME) students in the senior phase, offering a suite of opportunities, better matched to need and context linked to Developing the Young Workforce pathways.

Gaelic in Scotland

According to 2011 Census figures (currently the most up to date), the total number of people recorded as being able to speak and/or read, and/or write, and/or understand Gaelic was 87,056. Of these, the total number of people who could speak Gaelic was 57,602. While the number of Gaelic speakers declined overall in the last census, the number of people able to speak, read and write Gaelic increased between 2001 and 2011, reflecting a growth in Gaelic literacy and growing numbers of Gaelic learners. Two major developments in the last decade have seen the increase in digital platforms for language learners. 425,000 learners are currently engaged in the Duolingo Gaelic Course¹, and the recent launch of SpeakGaelic by the BBC in October 2021 shows that there is an appetite for learning Gaelic in Scotland.

Each year, Bòrd na Gàidhlig (BnG) publishes public data on Gaelic education. Key statistics include:

- ◆ 3,801 pupils in primary GME (61 schools/units in 15 local authorities)
- ◆ 1,474 pupils in secondary GME (32 schools in 12 local authorities)
- ◆ 75 primary schools in seven local authorities offer Gaelic Learner education
- ◆ 3,599 Gaelic Learner pupils (32 secondary schools in eight local authorities)

The map on the next page shows the locations of Gaelic education provision currently available in Scotland. More detail on these statistics is available from BnG at:

www.gaidhlig.scot/en/education/education-data.

We are proud of our vital role in creating a sustainable future for the language in Scotland.

The Gaelic Language (Scotland) Act 2005

The Gaelic Language (Scotland) Act 2005 was passed by the Scottish Parliament with a view to securing the status of the Gaelic language as an official language of Scotland, commanding equal respect to the English language.

One of the key features of the 2005 Act is enabling BnG to require a public authority to prepare a Gaelic Language Plan. This provision was designed to ensure that the public sector in Scotland plays its part in creating a sustainable future for Gaelic by raising the status and profile of the language and creating practical opportunities for its use.

This document is the third edition of SQA's Gaelic Language Plan, prepared within the framework of the Gaelic Language (Scotland) Act 2005 and with regard to the National Gaelic Language Plan and the Guidance on the Development of Gaelic Language Plans. It sets out how we will use Gaelic in our functions, how we will enable the use of Gaelic when communicating with the public and key partners, and how we will promote and develop Gaelic.

The National Gaelic Language Plan

SQA supports the aim of the National Gaelic Language Plan 2018–23 that 'Gaelic is used more often, by more people and in a wider range of situations'.

We are committed to achieving this aim by focusing our work on:

- ◆ increasing the use of Gaelic within our organisation and encouraging more people to use Gaelic more often when they interact with us
- ◆ increasing the opportunity for people to learn Gaelic as part of our day-to-day operations
- ◆ promoting a positive image of Gaelic whenever we can as part of our day-to-day operations as an organisation

Internal Gaelic capacity audit

One of our outstanding actions from our second Gaelic Language Plan was to carry out a colleague audit to establish and maintain a skills database to identify colleagues with existing Gaelic language skills, and to identify colleagues who are interested in learning Gaelic.

Our Gaelic Skills Audit, conducted in May 2021, aimed to identify Gaelic use and skills as well as any potential training and development aspirations our colleagues may have. SQA is committed to proactively encouraging the use of Gaelic among colleagues and customers, and the information we gathered with the skills audit will help us to plan the development of greater Gaelic use and visibility at SQA throughout the period of this plan.

The Gaelic Skills Audit, in the form of an online survey, was communicated to all colleagues through an all-colleague email as well as via our intranet and Yammer sites. The response rate to the survey was 10% (107 colleagues).

Key findings from the results include:

- ◆ 79% of respondents have an awareness of SQA's Gaelic Language Plan
- ◆ When describing their current Gaelic ability and use, 7% of respondents are current Gaelic learners and 7% of respondents have previously studied Gaelic
- ◆ 10% of respondents have a basic ability in understanding Gaelic
- ◆ 84% of respondents have no ability in understanding Gaelic
- ◆ 53% of respondents would be interested in learning Gaelic

More detail is provided in Appendix 1.

Over the lifetime of this third plan, we intend to re-engage with previous respondents as well as engage with more colleagues across more services and business areas in order to determine how we can develop increased use and visibility of Gaelic within SQA.

Key findings from the Gaelic Language Plan consultation

A fundamental element of our Gaelic Language Plan is collaborating with our partners from across Scotland. In accordance with the Gaelic Language (Scotland) Act 2005, this extends to consulting on the content of the Gaelic Language Plan itself.

It is important to us that the plan meets the needs of all our stakeholders — from learners and teachers to employers and training providers. Our consultation was published on our website from Tuesday 2 November until Tuesday 16 December 2021. Through our social media channels, we encouraged all those with an interest in SQA's Gaelic provision to participate in the consultation.

We received 11 responses in total with the majority of responses agreeing with the actions and aims detailed in the draft plan. Key themes in the responses included:

- ◆ the availability of Gaelic-specific qualifications in the curriculum
- ◆ as a result of the review of the education bodies and the ambition to align assessment and curriculum in the Scottish education system, it was noted that there will be opportunities to strengthen GME in the future
- ◆ an internal review of Gaelic skills is necessary at SQA (and its successor body)

SQA does not consider that the public consultation has suggested any requirement for a fundamental change to the proposed plan. The existing plan is sufficiently flexible to consider many of the points raised by respondents.

The feedback we received has been recorded and will be reflected in the internal action plan, which will be established through SQA's Gaelic Language Plan Implementation and Monitoring Group.

In addition, from 30 September until 26 November 2021, a public consultation was hosted on behalf of Professor Ken Muir, University of the West of Scotland, in his role as independent advisor to the Scottish Government on the replacement of SQA and the reform of Education Scotland. The information provided will support Prof. Muir in his considerations. An analysis of the responses will also be published in early 2022. As part of this consultation, Professor Ken Muir considered that it was important that those representing GME schools had the opportunity to engage with him on how they envisage the planned reforms impacting them. As a result of this, BnG was asked to be part of the Practitioner and Stakeholder Advisory Group and have also responded to this consultation. Any relevant actions will be considered and taken forward.

Further details are included in Appendix 2.

Key principles

Equal respect

Under the terms of the 2005 Act, BnG works with a view to securing the status of the Gaelic language as an official language of Scotland, commanding equal respect to the English language, and BnG in turn expects that public authorities will demonstrate in their plans how the principle will be achieved and maintained in practice.

SQA will ensure that where Gaelic is included as part of our operations and services the services will be of an equal standard and quality as those that we provide in English.

Active offer

SQA will make an active offer of our Gaelic services to our employees and the public. This will ensure that where Gaelic services are made available by us, Gaelic users are made aware of their existence, and are actively encouraged to use them.

This will take the responsibility away from the individual having to request the service and will give Gaelic users the confidence to know that their needs will be met if Gaelic is their preferred choice. We will ensure that our Gaelic language services are as accessible as our English language services.

Mainstreaming

SQA will ensure that opportunities for the public and our colleagues to use Gaelic are normalised, in support of the National Gaelic Language Plan 2018–23 aim that Gaelic is used more often, by more people, and in a wider range of situations.

Plan commitments

High-level aims

The high-level aims are a small number of strategic level actions, closely linked to the National Gaelic Language Plan 2018–23. BnG has three high-level commitments:

- ◆ increasing the use of Gaelic
- ◆ increasing the learning of Gaelic
- ◆ promoting a positive image of Gaelic

Under these, and through engagement with BnG, seven high-level aims have been identified as the key priorities for SQA over the next three years. Although we do not have specific high-level aims detailed below in relation to the National Gaelic Language Plan high-level commitment on ‘Promoting a positive image of Gaelic’, through discussions with BnG it is satisfied we meet this commitment through the other high-level aims and corporate service aims presented in this plan.

While we remain committed to the implementation of this edition of our Gaelic Language Plan 2022–25, we recognise that these are extraordinary times. We are continuing to respond to the impact of COVID-19 on Scotland, the rest of the UK and the world. In addition, it is likely that our priorities and associated timescales may change as a result of the review and replacement of SQA. However, we are focused to deliver what matters most, while working with others to shape the changes that lie ahead, and we will monitor our progress through our Gaelic Language Plan Implementation and Monitoring Group.

Corporate service aims

In addition to the SQA-specific high-level aims, BnG has developed a set of standardised corporate service aims that are based on their experience of approved Gaelic Language Plans to date, with the aim of standardising key Gaelic services over time across the public sector.

SQA has shown incremental progress towards the delivery of these aims and identified areas where there is more work to be done. Our current progress against these aims and our planned future activity is detailed on pages 19 to 27.

Aim: Status

The presence of Gaelic in the corporate identity and signs of a public authority greatly enhances the visibility of the language, increases its status, and makes an important statement about how Gaelic is valued and how it is given recognition. Developing the use of Gaelic through signage can also enrich the vocabulary of Gaelic users, raise public awareness of the language, and contribute to its development. A number of commitments relating to identity were indicated in the first two iterations of SQA's Gaelic Language Plan and are now reflected in our current practice. SQA continues to recognise the importance of extending the visibility of Gaelic and increasing its status.

Desired outcome: Render the corporate logo and branding in both Gaelic and English at the first opportunity and as part of any renewal process. The logo should demonstrate equal prominence for both languages

Actions required	Target date	Responsibility
Work with Facilities Team to ensure equal respect is granted to Gaelic and English with regards to signage	July 2023	Qualifications Development and Facilities

Aim: Communicating with the public

The use of Gaelic at the initial point of contact that members of the public have with a public authority increases the visible and audible presence of the language and contributes to the sense that the use of Gaelic is possible and welcome. In addition to raising the profile of the language, it also creates opportunities for its practical use and encourages members of the public to use Gaelic in subsequent dealings with the public authority.

The use of Gaelic in interactions with the authority by mail, email and by telephone is important in creating practical opportunities for the use of the language, and contributes to the sense that its use is possible and welcome. The presence of Gaelic in a wide range of bilingual forms and Gaelic-only forms can also greatly enhance the visibility and prestige of the language. The preparation of Gaelic versions of forms, applications and similar documents, can also assist in expanding the range of Gaelic terminology and the awareness of the Gaelic-speaking public of such terminology, thus helping the development of the language itself. SQA recognises the importance of creating opportunities for the practical use of Gaelic in a wide range of everyday situations and is committed to increasing its level of provision in this area.

Promotion

Desired outcome: Positive message that communication from the public in Gaelic is always welcome

Current practice: Gaelic version of comments/compliments/suggestions form on web.

The use of Gaelic in a range of printed material can assist Gaelic development in a variety of ways. It helps increase the visibility of the language, it enhances Gaelic's status by being used in high-profile publications, it can help develop new terminology and enhance existing terminology.

The use of Gaelic in the media helps demonstrate a public authority's commitment to making important information available through the medium of Gaelic, and enhances the visibility and status of the language. As more people access information about public authorities through their websites, making provision for the use of Gaelic can also significantly enhance the status and visibility of the language. SQA is committed to increasing the use of Gaelic in these areas where the subject matter is of most interest to the general public or relates specifically to Gaelic issues.

Aim: Staff

To deliver services through the medium of Gaelic, it is necessary to develop the requisite job skills and language skills of colleagues. The provision of language learning for colleagues helps promote adult Gaelic learning and promotes Gaelic as a useful skill in the workplace. The identification of jobs in which Gaelic is a designated skill will contribute greatly to the status of the language and to identifying it as a positive skill to acquire. The appointment of a Qualifications Co-ordinator for Gaelic has been an important factor in the production of previous and subsequent plans.

The use of Gaelic in advertising also helps recognise that Gaelic should be used in public life and that Gaelic speakers have an important role to play within a public authority. Whatever the level of Gaelic skills required, it is important that authorities ensure that Gaelic is a genuine occupational requirement. Authorities should adopt and apply objective criteria to ensure appointments are made in each case on a fair and consistent basis, and that they reflect the identified skills needs of the post. SQA recognises the importance of seeing Gaelic as an important job skill and of identifying situations in which its use is essential or desirable. SQA also recognises the importance of enabling colleagues to develop their Gaelic skills if they wish to do so.

As is the case with all languages, consistency of terminology and translation is very important, especially in Gaelic where new terminology and translation technology is emerging. SQA is committed to accessing developments in this sector and reviewing its internal translation processes. Links to the National Performance Framework and local and regional frameworks

SQA recognises the important role we play in supporting the Scottish Government's commitment to increasing the number of people using and learning Gaelic so bringing social, economic and educational benefits to Scotland and its people.

In June 2018, the Scottish Government published a revised National Performance Framework (NPF). This sets out the Government's purpose and its strategic priorities. For SQA, the NPF is the key guide to ensuring that our strategic priorities are aligned to those of the Government's, in particular:

- ◆ Economy: We have a globally competitive, entrepreneurial, inclusive economy
- ◆ Education: We are well-educated, skilled, and able to contribute to society
- ◆ Fair Work and Business: We have thriving and innovative businesses, with quality jobs and fair work for everyone
- ◆ International: We are open, connected and make a positive contribution internationally

As Scotland's national awarding and accrediting body, we will work with partners and stakeholders to continue to support the outcomes of the NPF and the contribution that Gaelic makes to these. SQA supports other local and regional frameworks, such as Community Planning Partnerships, Single Outcome Agreements, Regional Improvement Collaboratives, and regional Skills Investment Plans.

Publication

Over the course of this plan, we will have a communication strategy in place to promote the plan and communicate our progress and achievements, internally and externally.

Internally we will:

- ◆ publish the plan on our intranet site, highlighting to colleagues our role in encouraging the increased use of Gaelic, promoting the acquisition and learning of Gaelic, and promoting a positive image of Gaelic
- ◆ promote the 'Scotland's Languages' module, developed for SQA Academy, to all colleagues
- ◆ update colleagues throughout the plan duration on the progress made to date and what more we can do. We will do this via channels such as the intranet, SharePoint and Yammer

Externally we will:

- ◆ publish the plan in Gaelic and English and issue a bilingual press release announcing the plan
- ◆ publicise the plan through our social media channels
- ◆ share our plan with our key partners and stakeholders

Resourcing the plan

The majority of activities outlined in this plan will be, or will have already been, incorporated and resourced through the existing SQA budget agreed with SQA's sponsor, the Scottish Government.

Monitoring the plan

SQA will establish a Gaelic Language Plan Implementation and Monitoring Group to monitor the actions taken throughout the duration of this plan. This will be a cross-business group of colleagues with responsibility for delivering actions outlined in this plan. The group will meet quarterly to review progress, and this will be reported to the EMT biannually.

In addition, implementation of the plan will be included in our Business and Operational Plans, and progress will be monitored through normal SQA governance channels. Regular communication, either in the form of written updates or meetings with BnG, will facilitate this process. An annual progress report will be provided to BnG and made available to the public.

Appendix 1 — Internal Gaelic capacity audit

SQA's Gaelic Skills Audit took place between April and May 2021 to tie in with 'My Review' conversations taking place between colleagues and line managers. The aim of the audit was to identify Gaelic usage and skills and potential training and development aspirations of our colleagues.

The audit was publicised via an all-colleague email, posts on the SQA Gaelic Hub page on Yammer and an intranet article. The audit was located on the 'Scotland's Languages' SharePoint site and included messages from colleagues, including our CEO and director of Finance and Corporate Services, to encourage uptake and share their own experiences or aspirations to learn Gaelic.

SQA is committed to proactively encouraging the use of Gaelic among colleagues and customers, and the information gathered from future Gaelic skills audits will help us to plan the development of greater Gaelic use and visibility at SQA.

Appendix 2 — Public consultation

A fundamental element of our Gaelic Language Plan is collaborating with our partners from across Scotland. In accordance with the Gaelic Language (Scotland) Act 2005, this extends to consulting on the content of the Gaelic Language Plan itself.

It is important to us that the plan meets the needs of all our stakeholders — from learners and teachers to employers and training providers. Our consultation was published on our website from Tuesday 2 November until Tuesday 16 December. Through our social media channels, we encouraged all those with an interest in SQA's Gaelic provision to participate in the consultation.

In addition, from 30 September until 26 November 2021, a public consultation was hosted on behalf of Professor Ken Muir, University of the West of Scotland, in his role as independent advisor to the Scottish Government on the replacement of SQA and the reform of Education Scotland. The information provided will support Prof. Muir in his considerations. An analysis of the responses will also be published in early 2022. As part of this consultation, Professor Ken Muir considered that it was important that those representing Gaelic-medium education (GME) schools had the opportunity to engage with him on how they envisage the planned reforms impacting them.

As a result of this, BnG was asked to be part of the Practitioner and Stakeholder Advisory Group and have also responded to this consultation. Any relevant actions will be considered and taken forward.

We received 11 responses in total with the majority of responses agreeing with the actions and aims detailed in the draft plan. Key themes in the responses included:

- ◆ the availability of Gaelic-specific qualifications in the curriculum
- ◆ as a result of the review of the education bodies and the ambition to align assessment and curriculum in the Scottish education system, it was noted that there will be opportunities to strengthen GME in the future
- ◆ an internal review of Gaelic skills is necessary at SQA (and its successor body)

SQA does not consider that the public consultation has suggested any requirement for a fundamental change to the proposed plan. The existing plan is sufficiently flexible to consider many of the points raised by respondents.

We received 31 individual pieces of feedback from the 10 respondents. Of those,

- ◆ 19 comments did not require any action (were positive about the level of detail in the draft plan) and/or had already been considered by SQA
- ◆ 10 comments will be used to inform the internal action plan and will be passed on to the relevant department for consideration
- ◆ one comment was a duplication
- ◆ one comment related to the review of the education bodies. We will await the result of the Muir Review and will pass on the feedback to Scottish Government for consideration

The feedback we received has been recorded and will be reflected in the internal action plan, which will be established through SQA's Gaelic Language Plan Implementation and Monitoring Group. Moreover, through the creation of two new directorates at SQA (Communications and Policy, Analysis and Standards), we seek to engage with all those we work with and support. We continue to gather feedback and evidence to understand how our qualifications are operating and how we might improve them.
